I strongly oppose the spring bear hunt, those calling this wildlife management are the hunters with nothing more on their minds but slaughter. As the superior species we have to use other methods of controlling numbers that is if you	3/11/2022 9:29 AM	Online Survey really believe the distorted data produced that numbers are to high. The data which has been used for this has been discredited by other experts and specialists which must stop the hunt being implemented until these questions have been resolved as least. I also believe those that did vote against the hunt how suffered threats and intimidation, this again throws doubt on the decision to allow the bear hunt. If another year passes whilst this is all being looked into surely it is a price worth paying. Once these animals are killed they cannot be resurrected and it would be wrong and extremely flippant to say "never mind we'll just breed some more".

reasoning at its worst.

Regulating that mother bears and offspring are not to be "taken," does little to mitigate the cruelty of this hunt. Bears that are starved from hibernation emerge to a world that is just starting to provide the year's food. Hunting bears at this time just increases the stress these animals are under and makes it more difficult for mother bears to raise their ofspring and for their offspring to thrive.

And mother bears are killed very year 'by accident' regardless!

If you want to make the spring bear hunt permanent, show us how much money we are saving the timber companies. Then we can decide if we want to sell our souls for that amount.

We are better than this, Washington.

damage the trees and put pressure on humans is a wrong-headed argument. Humans completely ruined forests and live in too much bear country! It is time to flip this story to save and preserve wildlife for my children and future generations to enjoy. If we need a conservation tax to preserve wildlife (rather than hunting fees), let's take that on. Claiming that we are preserving a way of life is an old, tired argument. Life has changed, and we humans now have to adapt to the dire climactic and environmental conditions that we have created. Wild animals have few lawyers to protect their interests. The WD of F&W needs to protect our wild animals now that F&W has spent the last 100 years

I strongly oppose Spring bear hunts. They are immoral and anachronistic. They were originally organized at the behest of the timber industry to stop hungry bears from stripping bark from trees to reach the sweet sap underneath. But the 3/11/2022 10:05 AM Online Survey efficacy of this approach has never even been documented! So the WDFW is now expected to permanently approve a spring bear hunt simply to "preserve a hunting tradition," if we are to believe hunting advocacy groups. This is circular

I'd just like to make a quick comment in support of the bear season.

Proper wildlife management, including predator management, plays an important role in maintaining our forests, prey base and reducing human-wildlife conflict. Biologists at the Department of Fish and Wildlife support the hunt and have used the best available science and conservative estimates to illustrate sustainable take in just four areas on a limited scale to accomplish the aforementioned goals.

While robust discussion concerning the science presented by the department is a foundation of our democracy, what is taking place right now in the commission is paralysis by analysis, often hinging on ideological beliefs around protectionism. It seems no science presented would be sufficient for some of the commission. But the other side of the coin is that no science exists or has been presented that proves black bears in Washington have been or are under any threat of overharvest. In fact, black bears are thriving here and across the nation. While scientists might disagree over interpretations of data, the bottom line is: what is taking place on the landscape, and that is sustain timber damage, predation of ungulates and human-wildlife conflict.

We need to step back to the very beginning of this process and remember what these meetings were supposed to be about – and that is the regulations within the hunt. The number of tags available, check-in times and such. It was never meant to be about the legitimacy of the spring permit hunt itself.

If we are to talk about the acceptability or need for the hunt itself, that is a different topic altogether. That's a discussion that should take place separately and with input from all stakeholders, not within a regulatory discussion for a limited hunt in only four areas experiencing high levels of agriculture damage, predation and conflicts with humans.

It is for these reasons that the spring permit hunt was established to begin with, and why it should move forward in 2022.

Please do not take away the protections for these amazing creatures. They have every right to live just as we do. Say no to the bear hunt.

Bears have the right to live in peace and not be hunted... please protect them and listen to the majority of the public

If the hunting supports the ecosystem meaning there are too many bears or there are too few animals or tree bark interior that that the bear hunt then I am in favor of a limited bear hunt. The fall hunt should suffice. Otherwise black bear meat is not tasty like moose or elk so the hunter is likely hunting for the bear skin or trophy head. I think hunting a bear which is defenseless is not really a fair fight. If you don't really "need" to hunt for food then let's keep Washington States wildlife wild and keep the "life" in wildlife I oppose the spring bear hunt. I Oppose the bear hunt. I am opposed to a spring black bear hunt. In addition to the fact that bears are in relatively poor condition when they emerge from hibernation, there is too great a danger at that time of year that a hunter will accidentally kill a mother with cubs. I find the justification offered by Pete Butler, president of the Inland Northwest Wildlife Council, that bears must be killed in the spring so that hunters can "shake that winter dust off" and "stretch [their] legs" to be abhorrent, outrageous and indefensible. Let hunters shake off the dust and stretch their legs in a non-lethal way. Please do not authorize a spring hunt. I oppose the spring bear hunt. Facts over feelings - ban the spring bear hunt. Hunting to me is about community, relationships, supporting local and American businesses, providing for my family, and participating in wildlife conservation. I am a small business owner in Bellingham WA. I rely on the community to provide me with an income and in turn am very conscious of where I spend my money. Hunting provides the opportunity to support my local economy. I spend hundreds of dollars supporting my local sporting goods store, my butcher, archery shop (I met my best friend there) and gun range. Much of my gear I bought from hunting manufacturers is made in the USA. I purchase a hunting license and tags every year in multiple states, I am a member of the Mule Deer Foundation and Western Bear Foundation and am proud to support wildlife conservation through these resources. After a successful hunting season, I give friends and family steaks, sausage, jerky, and ground meat. Last year I gave a gentleman who is fighting cancer and can no longer hunt all of the meat from an antelope I killed in Wyoming. He was extremely grateful, and I was happy to be able to help. Last night I received a text from a guy I used to work with who retired a few years ago, he said, we are having elk tacos for dinner, thank you. I bring jerky to work for everyone and regularly get smoked fish from my appreciative co-workers. Hunting is a way for me to interact and give back to my community. Most importantly I can provide high quality meat for my family. When my wife was pregnant her doctor suggested she not eat any red meat and only eat organic chicken and fish. When my wife told her that I hunt and asked is game meat ok? Her doctor was excited and said oh yes you can eat all of that you want. That is very healthy. In my house, about 80% of the meat my wife and son eat is game meat and I am very thankful I can provide it. Hunting is a part of who I am, how I interact with my community, how I back my local economy and how I provide for my family. I live in Western Washington. I have never hunted in Washington state once in my life. I support the continuing of the spring bear season and the amendments proposed to WAC 220-415-080 because I believe it is what is best for our beautiful Washington bears. It is about them not us.	3/11/2022 1:55 PM	Online Survey

I support the spring bear season as a conservation and wildlife management tool. United States Department of Agriculture Wildlife Services kills approximately 4,000 wild animals per day. This is done at taxpayer expense of about $250,000 per day largely in response to requests from the public. Alternatively, hunters not only help manage these populations but also contribute to conservation through tags and license fees. I for one would prefer that my tax dollars be used to help save wildlife.	3/11/2022 2:00 PM	Online Survey

It's a false notion to say the hunt protects the bears. It doesn't protect the large number that lose their lives in a fearful, painful way. Stop the bear hunt. Fish and Wildlife needs to stop coddling hunters, they prove over and over again the bloodlust is more important to them than conservation. I listened to the November WDFW Commission meeting that preceded the rulemaking petition & am discouraged and offended. I object to bears being referred to as a "resource," and I ask that Commissioners and staff drop the agricultural language of "harvest" and call it what it is: killing. I oppose removing the year, as this proposed rule should be reviewed and authorized (preferably not authorized) every year. All but the most naive recognize that many young, as well as the mothers, will be slaughtered. It is absurd to think that a hunter is able to gauge whether a youngster is 50 pounds or a year old. In addition, most black bear young stay with their mothers for 17 months or more and weigh 80 lbs. or more at the one-year mark. So what is it exactly black bear hunters & their supporters on the Commission & in the department are advocating? Recreational killing of dependent young? This sickens me. Furthermore, in the November meeting one of the staffers stated there are "fairly minimal" chances that lactating females will be killed. "Fairly minimal" is not good enough, and even one orphaned cub is unacceptable. I am appalled that Commissioner Thorborn defended this petition by stating that underweight bears and cubs are "harvested" in the fall, too, and cited that as a reason for not restricting the spring hunt. This is so depraved it makes me feel like weeping. And finally, after listening to the November Commission meeting, I conclude that WDFW doesn't know how many bears there are to begin with. And their mortality categories didn't even mention poaching. Without question, this petition should be denied. And staffers and Commissioners who support thrill-killing should hang their heads in shame.	3/11/2022 3:08 PM	Online Survey

I am for the spring bear hunt.	3/11/2022 3:15 PM	Online Survey

I strongly oppose bear hunts, they are immoral and anachronistic. They were originally organized at the behest of the timber industry to stop hungry bears from trees to reach the sweet sap underneath. But the efficacy 3/11/2022 3:16 PM Online Survey of this approach has never even been documented! So the WDFW is now expected to permanently approve a spring bear hunt simply to "preserve a hunting tradition," if we are to believe hunting advocacy groups. This is circular

Regulating that mother bears and offspring are not to be "taken," does little to mitigate the cruelty of this hunt. Bears that are starved from hibernation emerge to a world that is just starting to provide the year's food. Hunting bears at this time just increases the stress these animals are under and makes it more difficult for mother bears to raise their ofspring and for their offspring to thrive.

And mother bears are killed very year 'by accident' regardless!

If you want to make the spring bear hunt permanent, show us how much money we are saving the timber companies. Then we can decide if we want to sell our souls for that amount.

We are better than this, Washington.

I oppose the spring bear hunt. When wild animals have the unfortunate experience of having a close encounter with us humans, guess who usually loses? Wild animals deserve to live wild. We are encroaching on their homelands, hunting them, stealing them, hurting them, and for what? Our entertainment. It's all one-sided against them. Go get a dog or a cat, let the wild animals of our state have their wilderness and their lives.	3/11/2022 4:18 PM	Online Survey
We as humans have overpopulated to the point where our wildlife can no longer self-regulate due to encroaching urban sprawl. Our current housing crisis makes this fact evident. It is our responsibility to these magnificent animals to manage them not only properly but ethically because they deserve that respect from us. As a Washington resident I support science-backed conservation and I support continuing the spring bear season with these proposed amendments to WAC 220-415-080.	3/11/2022 4:18 PM	Online Survey

We do not support. Please ban for good, thank you! I have not seen ecological scientific evidence that spring hunting of black bears in WA is beneficial for black bears. Rather the spring hunt is justified in terms of food or forest sciences as evidenced by frequent references to bears as a "harvest" species and bear damage to timber. So, given the lack of scientific benefits for bears as opposed to hunting and timber interests, combined with several ethical objections to spring hunting, I oppose spring hunting of black bears in WA.	3/11/2022 5:10 PM 3/11/2022 5:11 PM	Online Survey Online Survey

I wholeheartedly oppose the spring bear hunt. Thank you Hunting and pursuing bears in the Springtime should not be allowed regardless of whether they have cubs or not. It's an unethical and inhumane practice no longer allowed in most states. I am completely opposed to this proposed Spring Black Bear CR-102 petition. I have lived on acreage in Fall City, Washington for over 18 years and have shared my property with bears with joy, respecting them and giving them their space. They have never had a negative impact on my life, unlike the fact that ongoing urban sprawl designed by humans has completely destroyed their habitat. Any humane individual knows the incredible care of mother bears for their young, and the fact that these creatures could be randomly killed for sport, leaving their cubs to die, is an absolutely absurd and disgusting concept. "Harvest?" Harvesting is for wheat and apples, not live creatures who are simply living their lives and who have as much right to do so as the dreaded sports hunters whose egos apparently need a boost. Please. Be real! Do not allow this horrifically outrageous petition to become a reality! Washington State's citizens' values are much wiser than this!	3/11/2022 5:37 PM 3/11/2022 5:39 PM 3/11/2022 5:39 PM	Online Survey Online Survey
"If you can witness the incredible beauty and remarkable abilities of our fellow inhabitants of the planet, the non-human animals, and all you can see is a target, a resource, or food, your perception has been narrowed and distorted by the arrogance of human self-importance. They are so much more than that, and humanity is much less than the petty illusions it fosters in order to prop up its fragile ego. It is ironic that the ones who claim most vociferously that humans are 'superior' to non-human animals are so mediocre themselves." - Derek Du Toit "Cruelty to animals is as if man did not love Godthere is something so dreadful, so satanic, in tormenting those who have never harmed us, and who cannot defend themselves, who are utterly in our power." ~ Cardinal John Henry	3/11/2022 5:51 PM	Online Survey

"Cruelty to animals is as if man did not love God...there is something so dreadful, so satanic, in tormenting those who have never harmed us, and who cannot defend themselves, who are utterly in our power." ~ Cardinal John Henry Newman

Those who were put on this planet with us should not require our permission to exist on the planet. They had permission long before humans ever arrived. They are here WITH US, NOT FOR US to use, abuse, in any way exploit, torture or destroy! They all have their own lives to live, independent of human interference. The ruthless, thoughtless slaughter of millions of innocent beings for "sport" or "entertainment" is completely misguided and must be stopped. Just because something has been done for generations does not mean it should be continued. On the contrary, humans desperately need to learn how to peacefully coexist with the other beings put here to be WITH us on this beautiful planet.

The state of Washington provides a fall bear hunt. Spring is the time when bears emerge from hibernation, hungry and weak. Females, with vulnerable cubs, are lactating. We do not hunt any other mammals in the spring. A hunt should	3/11/2022 9:23 PM	Online Survey

I do not support a spring bear hunt.	3/11/2022 9:23 PM	Online Survey
I strongly support the spring bear hunt as has been allowed in the past. The idea that bears are weak and lethargic in the spring during this hunt is completely false, as can be attested to by anyone who has actually spent time in the	3/11/2022 9:30 PM	Online Survey woods during the spring. This is a challenging hunt by all accounts. Data has shown and proven that the killing of lactating sows during the spring hunt is EXTREMELY rare and is not the desire of any hunter holding this tag. The hunting of	• bears during the spring coincides with their breeding season, which is when other game animals are hunted. It also coincides with the time of year that elk, moose, and deer are giving birth and would help in the survival rate for the calves and fawns at an incredibly vulnerable time. In addition, the science provided by the biologists employed by WDFW shows that the population supports a spring hunt. Ignoring science for personal opinion is a slippery slope and will cascade into areas that will eventually negatively impact all people on both sides of this debate.
I strongly encourage the Commission to follow the mandate set forth in RCW to maximize hunting opportunities where the animal populations support such hunting. This is the case, as has been shown by the science.
Please keep the spring bear hunt. I took my first hunters ed course so I could try to get a spring bear tag and had already scoped out a few areas to hunt. I'm really disappointed that the data and science supporting a hunt are being ignored	d 3/11/2022 9:32 PM	Online Survey

Trophy hunt. The population of wild bears in Washington State is minimal, compared to historical numbers, and bear hunting for sport (trophy hunting) is not even real competition (just a feeble attempt to be masculine, perhaps prop up		• the ego/boast to friends). A man (or woman) with a gun that participates in canned hunts and doesn't kill for sustenance, is just a killer, not a skilled or talented individual. The lack of courage is disgraceful, actually. These people might try thinking a little deeper, about future generations, whose kids may not actually ever have the privilege of knowing or seeing a wild animal, as large as a bear, in the wilderness.
This horrible. Is not global warming enough! Now wreck the ecosystem by killing off "living" creatures that only do as they were created to do. Humans should be purged! Humans are doing irreversible damage	3/11/2022 11:25 PM	Online Survey

Hunting license fees are the majority of the budget for WDFW for study and increasing animal population.
People who say hunting for food is bad but going to the grocery store for meat is okay doesn't make sense. Hunting for food is okay as long as the population can sustain itself and WDFW manages over population through hunting.
I am not a bear hunter but I support all hunting for food. I don't support a hunter that takes a trophy and leaves the kill. There are laws against that.
I trust the science from Biologist employed by the state that study the local animals in saying it will not hurt bear growth continuing with bear hunts

Spring bear hunts are immoral and anachronistic. They were originally organized at the behest of the timber industry to stop hungry bears from stripping bark from trees to reach the sweet sap underneath. But the efficacy of this approach has never even been documented! So the WDFW is now expected to permanently approve a spring bear hunti simply to "preserve a hunting tradition," if we are to believe hunting advocacy groups. This is circular reasoning at its worst.
Regulating that mother bears and offspring are not to be "taken," does little to mitigate the cruelty of this hunt. Bears that are starved from hibernation emerge to a world that is just starting to provide the year's food. Hunting bears at

If you want to make the spring bear hunt permanent, show us how much money we are saving the timber companies. Then we can decide if we want to sell our souls for that amount.

These bear families have just as much right to life as any of the soulless wonders whose idea of a thrill is to shoot and kill an animal.		•
We must get beyond this murderous, bloodthirsty mindset if we are to ever have a peaceful and compassionate country in which to live.
Have we learned nothing from the unhinged violence in the United States?! Hunting is violence against the innocent, and needs to finally be banned.
And the fact that reading these comments against hunting has also incited threats from the hunters, I rest my case.

I favor and value Bears live. I advocate for wildlife and its ecological balance. Science, and not emotions, has showed that all animals play pivotal role in an ecosystem; hunting bears, will be in detrimental to this fragile system. Hunting as a" conservation" method, has based under economical interest, instead of wildlife needs and preservation. The domination orientation that prevails among hunters and wildlife managers leaves little room for a definition of conservation that includes consideration of the rights or interests of individual animals. Traditional wildlife management is concerned almost exclusively with the status of animals in the aggregate, i.e. populations and species. Talk of animals having rights—for instance, the right to not be subjected to cruel methods of capture such as leghold traps, or to not have their families broken apart as invariably happens when intensely social animals like wolves and coyotes are killed by hunters—is dismissed as soft-headedness. Hunters are participants in a system that has its origins in the desire to control and exploit the less powerful, in this case wild animals. STOP HUNTING our beautiful animals. Beautiful animals should not be killed for your amusement. Trophy hunting should be banned. Say NO to hunting Protect our majestic bears and mothers with her Cubs, protect our wildlife and abolish these outdated regimes once and for all These old fashioned traditions have no place anymore. Protect our wildlife and these majestic bears support the majority who want an end to this OLD tradition No more hunts The whole family OPPOSES the WAR ON INNOCENT, SENTIENT BEARS. Personally, I am against this amendment and bear hunting. Conservation would prioritize restoring predators as beard widely as possible across the landscape, but hunting-driven management seeks to do just the opposite. Stop thi against our natural carnivores. The disparity between game management and ecologically-focused conservation is more evident toward our top predators like wolves, bears and mountain lions play a vital role in ecosystems. Most w wiped out from large parts of their historic ranges by the mid-20th century. Carnivores have historically been vilified by hunters and wildlife managers as competitors for game animals and threats to livestock, and that attitude Is ref in state policies today. The argument is often made by defenders of the status quo that, without hunting, wildlife populations would grow unchecked and run amok, but this is not supported by science. Leaving aside the question of happened in the millions of years before modern humans appeared, there is ample evidence that top carnivores such as wolves, mountain lions, bears and coyotes, regulate their own numbers. They do this by defending territories, limiting reproduction to alpha individuals within a group, investing in lengthy parental care, and infanticide. Hunting is not needed to keep populations of top predators in check; and indeed, it has the opposite effect, because it disr the social interactions through which self-regulation is achieved. March 11. 2022

Department staff has supported the Spring Bear rule in part with statements that the bear populations are robust and that the proposed recreational hunt is within generally accepted "sustainable yield" parameters, thus framing the hunt around language in RCW 77.04.012 which states in part, "The commission, director, and the department shall preserve, protect, perpetuate, and manage the wildlife . . . "However, the next two sections of the RCW add an additional important concept, namely that of "do not impair."

"The department shall conserve the wildlife and food fish, game fish, and shellfish resources in a manner that does not impair the resource."

Hunting for subsistence is fine. Hunting for trophies or sport is immoral. Taking pleasure out of taking a life is wrong. Serial killers share this trait.

"The commission may authorize the taking of wildlife, food fish, game fish, and shellfish only at times or places, or in manners or quantities, as in the judgment of the commission does not impair the supply of these resources."

By including the "do not impair" standard twice in the law, the authors of the RCW were making a clear statement that impairment is as important as perpetuation. But "impair" is a qualitative, not a quantitative concept. "Impair" implies diminishment of "ability, value, or excellence," and constitutes a higher managerial goal.

If we assume, as some commissioners have stated, that individual bears carry ecological "value" to the success of the population, and if sow bears carry higher value — and by extension if sow bears with cubs are at their moment of highest value — then unless hunter compliance with the planned prohibition of killing sows-with-cubs and/or enforcement of same is virtually 100%, the proposed rule risks violating the mandated standard of "do not impair."

I oppose and object to annual culling of black bears. Trophy hunting to kill is barbaric and in our day of enlightenment, should not be allowed or encouraged by any, especially the State. Time for the State to step up and do the right thing!	3/12/2022 8:58 AM	Online Survey
I oppose the bear hunt. Stop the killer trophy hunters, confiscate their weapons. The Spring Bear Hunt, even with the prohibition against killing cubs and/or mother bears, would still risk orphaning cubs, who are completely dependent on their mother for survival during their first year. From a distance it is impossible to tell whether an adult bear is a female, and a mother is not always accompanied by her cubs while foraging for food. Even when present with the mother, cubs may not be visible due to their smaller size. It is inevitable that some mother bears will be killed in a hunt of this scope, leaving her cubs orphaned and helpless. I therefore oppose the hunt in its entirety.	3/12/2022 8:59 AM 3/12/2022 8:59 AM	Online Survey Online Survey
They aren't encroaching in our territory! We've encroached upon their land and their homes! Let's co exist and learn to respect all life! what happened to compassion? I oppose this hunt! Oppose the (permanent) spring bear hunt. WA has an opportunity to be a leader in protecting wildlife and real conservation. Do not cater to or be bullied by the lowest among us, hunters. Hunters are those who would kill someone for fun and we can no longer allow other lives to be slaughtered because of a few bloodthirsty killers. Wildlife are lives that are a part of a diverse eco system and their lives belong to themselves. They are not 'game' and there is no need to 'manage' other species. This proposal for a permanent sprint hunt is disgusting. Most citizens of WA are better than that and want wildlife to be protected and wish to be represented as decent, compassionate, rational citizens. Vote against the permanent spring hunts of bears.	3/12/2022 9:01 AM 3/12/2022 9:01 AM	Online Survey Online Survey

Vote yes in support of spring bear hunting. The importance of wildlife management will help the overall animal numbers. I've been hunting Washington state for 20+ years. I have seen over hundreds of bears in my life. Our predator to prey ratio is so out of whack that without proper predator management you eventually won't be seeing anything but predators. If you don't hunt then you really don't have a say in how anything is handled. You clearly sit in your fantasy thinking these are cute cuddly creatures. In reality they are not. Hunters don't go out targeting sow or cubs. We don't go out in hopes of wiping out a whole species. It's not trophy hunting. You anti's don't have a clue on what it takes to hunt these animals. Half of you don't even know your own gender. Most spring bear tags go unfilled. It's not like we just walk out of the car and shoot one. It's called hunting for a reason. WDFW needs to make this hunt happen or say goodbye to wildlife in Washington as the wolves and cougars are already destroying it as we speak. Vote yes for spring bear because all these anti's are just pulling * straight out of their asses.

turn, sourced wildlife experts & biologists globally, who have strongly defended the end to these hunts and the old traditions. It cannot be hidden anymore because there are far too many experts voicing their concerns & knowledge.

reduces their populations, it doesn't prevent bear human conflict. There are plenty of ways to educate the public about bear and human interaction. WDFW has an obligation to put more effort into education of hunters and the general public about the place of bears in our environment. Hunting bears is just the easy way out for the department. Policy is NOT at the end of a gun. Policy is in the realm of science. Bears are crucial to the ecosystem, they are vulnerable with habitat loss and climate change. Virtually all hunts are for trophies. This is not ethical or scientific and it favors hunters over thousands of people who enjoy seeing animals alive and healthy, in the wild, and not as rugs or wall hangings.

1973 presumably in response to timber damage.
Since the WDFW does not have a formal effective monitoring program to assess tree damage or human-bear conflicts this hunt should be stopped unless there are proven compelling reasons to continue it. I would hope that wildlife policy would have become more enlightened from the days of the wild west when no thought was given to wildlife ecology or society's enjoyment of wildlife. It's time to stop catering to the wishes of a small minority of the population that

Hello Commissioners, I was registered to speak at the meeting but experienced technical difficulties. For some reason, you all couldn't hear me. You tried three times to connect with me, and I want to thank you for trying to let me speak. I 3/11/2021 18:54 oppose spring bear hunting. Bears play a significant role in our forest ecosystems. They are responsible for a vital amount of seed dispersal, dispersing more seeds than birds. When bear populations decline, so do the number of plant species found in their ecosystems, which in turn affects other species. I find it absurd that there is no abundance estimate and no mandatory reporting. Wildlife is a public trust that must be managed to benefit all the trust's beneficiaries. For those of us non-consumptive users, our objection to killing bears is considered emotional and unscientific. Yet your agency will afford hunters the "right to kill" just to offer a hunting opportunity. That's not science. Hunters proclaim that it's their heritage or tradition to hunt bears. That's not science. Special interests and hunting opportunities should never take precedence over science and the overwhelming opposition from your stakeholders. We are all a part of the public trust, and all of the trust's beneficiaries, including those who choose not to partake in the killing of bears, should be considered. I hope you look at the bigger picture and are guided by your conscience when deciding what the future will look like down the road for bears and the health of our ecosystems as a whole. With appreciation, Nicole Cordano

Spring Bear Comments External Email Dear Commissioner Baker As a 50-year hunting license holder I am writing today in support of continuing the spring bear season in Washington State. I was trying to put my thoughts into an eloquent 3/12/2022 11:57 essay but decided on bullet points instead. Please consider these ideas as you are deciding the fate of the spring bear season: Opportunities to hunt are being lost at what seems a somewhat alarming rate. Do we really want to lose another completely? My family friends and I are very concerned that our hunting heritage is being lost. It is a huge part of our lives. The wild meat we harvest is better and more cherished than anything we could ever buy bear included. The WDFW biologist support for the continuation of the spring hunt seems strong. I believe trust in Commission decisions would grow as Commissioners show trust in the WDFW experts. While I understand there are questions about bear populations and trends I am not aware of any real concerns with bear numbers. Couldn't study go on (as it should anyway) without cutting the whole season? Permit numbers and areas are adjustable. The elk in the Blue Mountain units truly need all the help they can get. This dire situation with calf recruitment should be reason enough to maintain the spring season in those areas. If recreational bear harvest has increased the past two years doesn t that coincide with major reductions in damage kills as timberland owners can no longer employ hound/bait hunters? This is also an indicator of a robust bear population. I think it is important to note that the spring bear hunt was not voted down at the last meeting. It was left undecided because of a tie vote. Why spring? We hunt plenty of other animals in the spring. Raccoon rabbit cougar covote etc. are hunted through March. Turkeys are hunted in a special spring rut season. We don't hunt ungulates in the spring largely because of how we determine take. It would be impossible to harvest a 3pt buck when it doesn t have its antlers yet. We also hunt bears in the spring to increase pressure on them and to increase the possibility of take. In areas with struggling elk recruitment (Blue Mountains) spring is a great time for bear season as the spring bear hunts remove large predators at the time elk calves are most vulnerable to bears (late spring and early summer). In this sense it is one of the very few management tools the Department has to address conservation of another species. Bears also rut in the spring which makes males more active visible and more likely to be harvested. I also believe the reason there has been a spring bear hunt in the past is because the population can sustain the hunt. We likely don't hunt deer and elk in the spring because their population can't sustain that hunt. Seasons for ungulates get adjusted shorter and longer permits raised and lowered as the population allows. Since banning baiting and hound hunting in 1996 bear populations have increased allowing more hunting of bears. Two tags are now authorized in this state because of the increased number of bears. Taking away the spring bear hunt will just have the population increase again and create more human/bear conflicts and greater impact on our already stressed deer and elk populations. Allowing the spring hunt will help manage the number of bears at a sustainable level that provides recreation while keeping a balanced ecosystem. Thanks for considering these ideas as part of the decision-making process. Sincerely Gary P. Siegel

Bear hunts in Washington are exceptionally cruel. Hunters can kill mother bears and cubs. Bears play a significant role in our forest ecosystems. Many other species rely on their existence. Bears are also responsible for a vital amount of seed dispersal, dispersing more seeds than birds. When bear populations decline, so do the number of plant species found in their ecosystems. Why are hunters allowed to kill these precious animals? Lurge the Washington Fish and Wildlife Commission to proceed with a permanent ban on spring bear hunting in their state.

It is right & good to halt the spring bear hunt. Hunters who have a passion to kill are dangerous humans, if the FDFW give them the go ahead they gain power, more power. Trophy hunters, the safari club in my opinion are individuals with 2/9/2022 23:26 superior thinking minds, completely ego driven & arrogant. How can anyone have a passion to kill an innocent bear or any animal for entertainment? The WDFW have a responsibility to protect nature & not bow down to ruthless hunters. These hunters feel superior to all, they have been carrying guns for so long that they feel absolutely powerful. Do not be intimidated by these individuals, they are a sad excuse of a human being.

Spring bear hunts in Washington are exceptionally cruel since trophy hunters can kill mother bears and cubs, and the season starts as mother bears and cubs are most vulnerable emerging from their dens following hibernation. If trophy hunters kill a mother bear and spare her cubs, they will likely die without their mother present. During springtime, bears search for early spring vegetation, making them easy targets for bear trophy hunters who scout out locations abundant in natural food sources and wait for the hungry bears to arrive. As an umbrella species, bears play a significant role in our forest ecosystems. Many other species rely on their existence. Bears are also responsible for a vital amount of seed dispersal, dispersing more seeds than birds. When bear populations decline, so do the number of plant species found in their ecosystems.

For all of the reasons listed above, we, the undersigned, urge the Washington Fish and Wildlife Commission to proceed with a permanent ban on spring bear hunting in their state.

I oppose the spring bear hunt. Besides being cruel & barbaric, the wildlife of WA is owned by the people and not some small special interest groups. Don't cave in to these trophy hunters who just want to slaughter the bears and wildlife and leave. The majority of people in WA do not trophy hunt and are against the trophy hunting of bears. If anyone threatens anybody, they need to go to jail. Nobody is above the law. Nobody!	2/10/2022 0:57	Commission Contact Form

Our horrendous disregard for the wellbeing of animals presupposes that their lives are somehow less valuable than our own. Considering no other species on earth has done as much damage to this planet and every living creature on it 2/10/2022 3:38 than our own, one could argue quite the opposite.

I commend the four commissioners who chose to listen to the majority of their stakeholders and based their decision on ethics and science, not special interests.

Spring bear hunts in Washington are exceptionally cruel since trophy hunters can kill mother bears and cubs, and the season starts as mother bears and cubs are most vulnerable emerging from their dens following hibernation. If trophy hunters kill a mother bear and spare her cubs, they will likely die without their mother present. During springtime, bears search for early spring vegetation, making them easy targets for bear trophy hunters who scout out locations abundant in natural food sources and wait for the hungry bears to arrive. As an umbrella species, bears play a significant role in our forest ecosystems. Many other species rely on their existence. Bears are also responsible for a vital amount of seed dispersal, dispersing more seeds than birds. When bear populations decline, so do the number of plant species found in their ecosystems.

For all of the reasons listed above I strongly urge the Washington Fish and Wildlife Commission to proceed with a permanent ban on spring bear hunting in their state.

I urge the WDFW commissioners not to reverse the decision to halt the Spring Bear Hunt. There is no justification for trophy hunting. Please give these animals the protection they deserve. Please keep protections for Bears 🗑 🐾 🦠

These Beautiful animals have a right to exist and roam in their natural habitat as God intended them to. We love the America that represents respect and love for each other and are precious wildlife and land and its important for future generations to be able to se wildlife. It is heart wrenching to think of these amazing unique animals being murdered by blood thirsty violent trophy killers who are cowards with guns and were most likely bullied as children or grew up in very dysfunctional upbringingings. Will wish love and light to all and hope the hunters change their ways and take up other activities that do not destroy living creatures.

Thank You. 🕄

There should NOT be a spring bear hunt in Washington. The fact that commissioners have been threatened should be an indication of the kind of people who argue for it. The trophy hunters and Sierra club argue that it helps in conservation. Human interference in the natural order of the wilderness doesn't work. These hunters are not targeting the weak or infirm individuals, as a conservation effort should do, to promote a healthy population. These hunters target the strongest and healthiest, since stuffing a sub-par specimen is hardly a trophy worthy of bragging rights in Vegas. I have not heard that there is such a decimated deer/elk/bison herd that every effort must be made to save them. Bear predation isn't going to hurt the survival of those animals; it has worked this way long before we got involved. I'm sure these same concerned hunters have shot more than a few herbivores. Probably in the name of conservation, too! And the trees? I We do more damage to the forest's survival than any number of hears could

I'm opposed to the spring time hunt. If you allow these individuals to hunt at this time mothers and cubs will be shot as they emerge from their winter hibernation.

If this is allowed bears will be on the endangered list.

Bears should be protected from these sadistic individuals.

We do not have such amazing creatures in the UK as they were hunted to extinction in our country.

You are so lucky to have these bears and should protect them at all costs.

If you are threatened by these individuals they should be arrested and put in prision.

They have no place in our society and are a disgrace to man kind.

Dear commissioners, please protect the precious bears in your region. The right decision about the cancelled bear hunt must not be reversed, please do not give in to the pressure from the hunting lobby. Sincerely, Ulrich Rauschenberger 2/10/2021 10:31

Stop killing innocent bears!

Please stand strong and resist the pressure of trophy hunter groups. Oppose the proposal to reinstate the spring bear hunt.

There is no scientific basis to support the claim that a trophy hunt will solve the problem human-bear conflict. Most of this conflict is a result of our insufficient waste management issues.

In recent years, multiple studies have concluded that hunting does not reduce the occurrence of bear-human conflicts. Neither is there a correlation between hunting to reduce bear population and reduction of subsequent conflicts.

Hunting does not reduce bear-human conflicts. Hunting does not reduce the number of bears that frequent residential areas. Hunting results in removal of non-problematic bears from the population as it targets large bears deep in the woods.

Please oppose the proposal to reinstate the spring bear hunt.

Please ensure that these animals will not be hunted in the spring time of any year. Thank you!

Bear hunting serves the companionable bloodlust of the hunters; bear hunts do not reduce the numbers of bears which is a result of the balance of nature and the resources available to sustain them. Bear perform essential functions in supporting that balance. The killing of bear will result in either an increased birth rate or an influx from other regions. In addition, the methods used and the killing of mothers and cubs is heinous and another indication that the purpose of these hunts is bloodlust sport.	2/10/2022 17:49	Commission Contact Form

Animal and environmental advocates are often called terrorists because they disrupt the norm and seek to end exploitative and cruel industries and traditions of harming and killing animals. Our reverence for animals and the environment threaten those who wish to destroy what we love and respect. We challenge the deep-seated conscious that resides in those who profit from and find joy in the pain, suffering, and death of animals. Because of the acts of actual terrorists, Washington's Spring Bear Hunt may be reinstated this year after being halted following a 4-4 vote by commissioners back in November.

Trophy hunters and the world's largest trophy hunting organization Safari Club International have been pressuring WDFW to reverse their decision. When we say pressuring, we mean threatening the lives of the commissioners who voted to stop the spring bear hunt. The threats were so severe that one commissioner resigned. A petition was created three months ago by a bear hunter that now has over 20,000 signatures.

Please uphold the ban on the spring bear hunt in WA. It would be better to ban bear hunting altogether as all wildlife is in decline. Public opinion is very much in favour of a total ban on hunting of these big beautiful animals. It's shocking to hear the trophy hunters are now threatening the lives of the commissioners who have brought in this ban. Enough is enough these hunters are not sportsmen their only aim is to kill anything they can. Protect your wildlife from these unhinged humans.	2/11/2022 15:44	Commission Contact Form
Please let these beautiful creatures be. There is no reason to hunt bears except for the glory of the kill. Unlike deer, I do not know anyone who eats bear meat. I love seeing the bears come out in my area in the spring and summer.	2/11/2022 17:01	Commission Contact Form

Suspending the spring bear hunts ?????? we all know where THIS is going??? I will put money on the suspension of elk and deer seasons are next after fall bear seasons are suspended . You guys are SO wrong to listen to ANYONE outside the hunting community!!!! You know as well as I do that hunting ANY big game will eventually become a CRIME at the rate YOU are allowing this to go You are CLEARLY not in this for the hunter NOR the hunting traditions of our country and of the human right to seek food for a man's family!!	2/11/2022 17:28	Commission Contact Form
I urge the Washington Fish and Wildlife Commission to proceed with a permanent ban on spring bear hunting in their state. How about you all get a hobby and leave bears alone? Try doing something productive with your leisure time, like volunteering at an animal shelter or food bank. Dear Sir/Madam	2/11/2022 22:01	Commission Contact Form
I'm writing to you to ask that you not allow a spring bear hunt to go ahead, this year or ever. Do not be coerced by brutal sadists who are only happy when they're killing or torturing a defenceless animal. Living bears are a wonderful blessing to all humanity and a source of income for Washington.
People from countries without bears, such as us in the UK, will pay handsomely to see these majestic creatures. Do the right thing, protect the bears and help yourselves at the same time. NO BEAR HUNTING Please do not reinstate Washington's Spring Bear Hunt. Your initial decision is the correct one, despite the pressure you are receiving from the hunting groups (terrorists). Spring bear hunts in Washington are exceptionally cruel since trophy hunters can kill mother bears and cubs, and the season starts as mother bears and cubs are most vulnerable emerging from their dens following hibernation. If trophy hunters kill a mother bear and spare her cubs, they will likely die without their mother present. During springtime, bears search for early spring vegetation, making them easy targets for bear trophy hunters who scout out locations abundant in natural food sources and wait for the hungry bears to arrive. As an umbrella species, bears play a significant role in our forest ecosystems. Many other species rely on their existence. I am writing to ask that you stand with & support the 4 commissioners and the majority of Washingtonians that supported the Nov 2021 ban Spring hunt of bears, including mothers & cubs. We're hunting & killing to the point of severe decline in numbers and we know what happened with the buffalo in our American history. Also, we no longer need to hunt & kill for food or warmth- and certainly not for thrill, sport or trophies! Washingtonians are proudly super environmentally, earth and animal conscientious- so opening hunting up, especially when an opposing commissioner is guiding & entertaining hunters looks super suspicious as well as goes against science & most of your citizens core heliefs

I commend the four commissioners who chose to listen to the majority of their stakeholders and based their decision on ethics and science, not special interests.

I know the worlds in a tough place right now Sir- allowing hunting will only add to our environmental problems and the earth and its animals cannot withstand the course we're on. It's time to stand and try something different. No hunting. No killing. To kill over & over isn't sustainable as well as humans overreach into their habitats. Imagine being a bear- scary huh? With our loud machines, fire, explosives, garbage and everything that comes with "humans"- it's got to be pretty * scary for sure. I'm kindly asking you to ban bear hunting for good- spring is an amazingly beautiful time for moms & baby animals- please continue to follow science like you did with covid and do not allow bear hunting. Thank you Sir for all that you do for WA!

Do not allow trophy hunters to intimidate you! If you bend to them, they own you! A majority of Americans do not agree with hunting and trapping at all. These bear hunts are abhorrent and leave cubs to die of starvation or other means 2/12/2022 21:31 when orphaned. The cruelty of these hunts are inhumane! Please do not bend to bullying and threats! Have them arrested for behaving in such a way to get what they want! You will forever give these people power over you! Do what is right for bears and all wildlife on our public lands!

I support a ban on spring bear hunting. This is incredibly cruel, making bear cubs orphans and starving them to death. Please end this practice.

Please stay with your original courageous and compassionate decision and ban the Spring Bear Hunt. We appreciate our wildlife, and understand that God created them to live out their lives within His purpose. They are not throwaway items to be killed at a whim, or for the pleasure of others.

Please ban this needless, cruel, horrific, barbaric killings. These killers are simply cowards hiding behind a gun or whatever weapon they use. There are many more people all over the world who detest these vicious acts of cruelty than those who support it. The lovely bears belong on the land and entitled to live a good life without fear and harm. Humans are encroaching on their land.

As for these cowards I cannot comprehend what is going on in their mind and to physically harm them beggars belief. I would not trust them as far as I could throw them with children or vulnerable people to be capable of what they do to innocent bears with no defence.

End bear hunting.

Stop the near hunting please

PLEASE BAN BEAR HUNTING AND ALL HUNTING! IT IS SO CRUEL AND BARBARIC... EXTREMELY INHUMANE AND OUTDATED. IT IS A SELFISH, OUTRAGEOUS CRIME AND THERE IS NO EXCUSE WHATSOEVER FOR THIS TOTALLY UNNECESSARY 2/12/2022 23:18

If trophy hunters kill a mother bear and spare her cubs, they will likely die without their mother present. During springtime, bears search for early spring vegetation, making them easy targets for bear trophy hunters who scout out locations abundant in natural food sources and wait for the hungry bears to arrive. As an umbrella species, bears play a significant role in our forest ecosystems. Many other species rely on their existence. Bears are also responsible for a vital amount of seed dispersal, dispersing more seeds than birds. When bear populations decline, so do the number of plant species found in their ecosystems. I fully support the Washington Fish and Wildlife Commission's decision to halt the Spring Bear Hunt and vehemently urge the Commission to NOT reverse this decision. Hunting bears in the spring is incredibly inhumane and cruel as mother bears can be killed, orphaning their cubs which are still fully dependent upon their mothers for survival. What kind of monster would destroy a mother bear and proudly call it trophy hunting? Probably the same kind of monster who would violently storm the capitol in a blatant attempt to undermine democracy, and call it "political discourse." Please, WFWC, humanity can be measured by the way we treat our most vulnerable. Cheryl Please put an end to the bear hunt. It's time to start treating these bears as living things instead of entertainment for hunters. I am against the spring bear hunt in Washington State. The bears are important for the ecosystem of the forest and we need all species as eliminating one will affect another. The hunting is being promoted by trophy hunters and not the people of your state and other states that are against this. This hunt is cruel in that it will affect young cubs losing their mothers. There is minimal bear to human contact and these animals also disperse seeds and provide more foliage. There was a ruling against this hunt in 2018 to protect timber stands. No evidence was found against the bears and now again you are favoring hunters instead of looking at the science. In 1996 and 2000 Washington voters approved initiatives banned killing black bears. Since 2010 900 bears have been killed. Wolves have also been killed in your state without looking at other options. Killing is not the answer or you will harm the recovery of wildlife in your state over time. Look at the science and other options Conservation is not killing. There are other options that you need to initiate not listening to people who have no scientific knowledge and are promoting their own needs to kill animals at any cost and inhumanely.	2/13/2022 22:19 2/13/2022 22:21	Commission Contact Form Commission Contact Form
I am very worried about bears and their ecosystem if spring hunting is allowed again. Bears including cubs and their mothers are especially vulnerable at that time. If they are hunted, it can endanger the species and with it the forests, as bears have a huge role in seed dispersal.	2/13/2022 22:22	Commission Contact Form

Speaking of cruel and inhumane, they allow for the killing of mother bears and their cubs. Think hunters are being merciful and 'sparing' the cubs by just killing the mother? You'd be wrong, as cubs rely almost entirely on their mothers for food and protection, so most die shortly after their mothers (35% from attacks by older males). Speaking of irresponsible, bears are what the National Park Service calls 'ecosystem engineers'. This means bears are integral to the areas they inhabit, keeping populations of fauna in check through predation, and helping spread flora through foraging. TL;DR: more bears, healthier ecosystems.
For these reasons, I call on the Washington Department of Fish and Wildlife to ban Spring Bear Hunts permanently. I support a permanent ban on spring bear hunting! 2/13/2022 22:	29 Commission Contact Form

Spring bear hunting is cruel You made the correct decision to halt the Spring Bear Hunt. I hope you will not reverse that decision. Bears emerging from hibernation should not be killed, whether it's because of human/bear conflict a logical result of habitat loss, or any other reason. The term "Harvest" is used by many to sanitize what's really happening. It's more politically correct and easier for some to stomach perhaps. Based on the objective here a cull would be a more accurate description. I no longer see the pleasure in killing wildlife. Black Bears are a keystone species for the important role they play in nature. Killing them to mitigate a situation created by us and appease trophy "hunters" is just plain wrong and immoral.

Dear Fish and Wild Commission. 2/14/2022 3:30 Commission Contact Form

I am appealing to you, to pass a law to make people stop hunting and killing bears and their cubs. I know new laws take a while to go into effect. Pass an emergency law to stop this criminal and terrorist behavior towards these innocent animals. This is cruel, immoral, and it should be against the law. The killers of this animals just do it because they are terrorists, they are the dangerous species, not these beautiful critters, whom to no fault of their-own suffer, mothers and their cubs. Of course, the killers kill for fun to show their trophies to their friends. How would you feel if your wives are killed after they have your baby (bies)? leaving them orphans? The cubs will not survive without their mother. Animals' lives are not less important than those of humans. SO PLEASE, I BEG YOU TO PROTECT THESE BEAUTIFUL ANIMALS.

I am looking forward to your comments and to tell me what you are willing to do to save these beautiful critters? Do you think these animals deserve less than humans do? After all - we stole their habitat.

Also, no excuses to kill them because overpopulation of the species, they will be extinct if we keep killing them.

The world is twice if not three times overpopulated. We are not going to get rid of people because of that reason, are we? Human lives are precious, so are the animals'

Thank you for your time and consideration.

Spring bear hunts in Washington are exceptionally cruel since trophy hunters can kill mother bears and cubs, and the season starts as mother bears and cubs are most vulnerable emerging from their dens following hibernation. If trophy hunters kill a mother bear and spare her cubs, they will likely die without their mother present. During springtime, bears search for early spring vegetation, making them easy targets for bear trophy hunters who scout out locations abundant in natural food sources and wait for the hungry bears to arrive. As an umbrella species, bears play a significant role in our forest ecosystems. Many other species rely on their existence. Bears are also responsible for a vital amount of seed dispersal, dispersing more seeds than birds. When bear populations decline, so do the number of plant species found in their ecosystems.

I urge the Washington Fish and Wildlife Commission to proceed with a permanent ban on spring bear hunting.

Commit to courage-don't succumb to the Dumb! Stop the barbaric & senseless bear hunt this spring, many of these sows soon will be, or will just have given birth to their cubs. Animals are not the species needing culling.

I just found out that Washington still had spring hunting for bears. I can't imagine anything more cruel than killing a mother bear and then having to do the same to her cubs when they first immerge from their winter dens. Please stop this cruel and senseless practice as it benefits no one with a love of nature.

I am ashamed humanity remains the most prolific predator on earth. We are killing Monarch Butterflies, Gray Wolves, Orca whales, salmon, bears....

Please STOP the SLAUGHTERS!!!!

Hi WDFW. I am here to voice my opinion on opposing the Spring Bear Hunt being reinstituted. We have to give them a chance to reproduce and sows must absolutely be given a chance to raise their cubs. The spring bear hunt puts them in 2/14/2022 6:06 danger and is completely unethical.

Thank you for listening and considering our opinions

Adrian

Please halt the spring bear hunt!

Stop bear hunting in the spring It is disgusting ... Killing mother bears and cubs when they come out of hibernation is wrong.

Please don't follow the wish of those dumb trophy hunters. They are killers for fun, just killing god's creatures to hang them up in a room and to maximize the length of their penisses. And therefore these beautiful animals should die? Follow your heart and not this superfluous hunbting industry.

Dear Commission members, please do not allow spring bear hunting.

I ask that you truly evaluate this fact: at the present time, trophy hunters - those who kill for no other reason than the pleasure of killing - can murder mother bears and cubs, STARTING IN A SEASON THAT COINCIDES with mother bears and cubs emerging from their dens following hibernation. That is a rule for cowards. What will you do next? Round up mother bears and their cubs and put them in fairground pens so trophy hunters have an even better chance of killing for fun? STOP THIS. PLEASE. To allow it is to reinforce that killing for fun, to satisfy bloodlust and ego is totally acceptable. IT IS NOT.

I and many colleagues have been appalled at the immoral and cruel bear hunts that take place in the spring.

This is a very sad reflection on the authorities concerned in the USA and we implore you to ban this annual hunt permanently. Even in Africa it would be seriously frowned upon for a professional hunter to shoot vulnerable animals and youngsters at this stage of their annual cycle. We beg you to put a stop to this immediately. Thank you.

I am concerned that WA state is enabling bear hunting, in particular trophy hunting. It has come to my attention that the bear hunt occurs in the spring when bear cubs are at their most vulnerable. Please consider the value of bears in maintaining the ecosystem. Please reconsider potentially outdated hunting practices and laws when bears are already under threat from loss of habitat, climate change stresses and diminished ecosystem health.

The decision to ban this Spring Bear hunt must be upheld. Don't give in to these blood hungry people who have no regard for wildlife just their selfish and psychopathic needs to kill a vulnerable bear and their babies. Its really quite shocking and upsetting that certain people feel this way and would purposefully kill a bear that has done nothing to harm them. So please do the write thing and protect these lovely bears.

Please ban Spring Bear hunting as cubs rely on their mother without whom they will surely perish. It would be truly a sad day when they go extinct. Thank you for your consideration.

Thank You

I recently wrote an email to the commission regarding my concerns for the future of this state in regards to hunters, fisherman and trappers. My main concern is that the majority of the commission are not engaged in these activities, and 2/15/2022 4:14 therefore do not have our best interests in mind. I was pleased to receive phone call response from three of the commissioners, and I believe we had constructive conversations. I also received a short email response from another commissioner. I reached out to the remainder and expressed my interest in continuing the conversation with them, but have not received a response. In the short email response that I received from Lorna Smith she included the DFW's 25 year plan, and suggested that I read it. I took her advice and thoroughly read and studied that plan. Multiple times throughout that document it is stated that one of the objectives is to help create relationships between outdoorsman and private landowners to create more opportunities for access and conservation. It is also stated that it is the goal of the game department to be trusted by both consumptive and non-consumptive users. This got me thinking about a personal experience that I've had, and I'm writing this email to share that experience with the commission so that they understand why folks like myself have a hard time trusting that the DFW is sincere in their stated goals, and their impacts on consumptive users. I grew up very close to the KV Ranch, which some of you might be familiar with as being owned by the now vice chair of the commission, Molly Linville, and her husband. This ranch blocks access to thousands upon thousands of acres of state and federal land, every American citizen's land. I have contacted the KV Ranch multiple times over the course of my life to try to gain access to this public land, and I have never once had the opportunity to actually speak with somebody. After my recent conversations with the commissioners, and the recent appointment of Mrs. Linville as the vice chair I decided that I should try again. It was my belief that because the DFW states that part of their mission is to facilitate the type of relationships between landowners and hunters described in the 25 year plan that she might now be more open to having a discussion with me, as she is now one of the nine people tasked with preserving, promoting and protecting the values of the DFW. I left a voicemail on the phone number that is publicly listed requesting to have a conversation about me simply walking across their property, gun unloaded, to gain access to these thousands of acres of America's public property. I did receive a call back and unfortunately missed that call. Over the course of the next few days I tried respectfully contacting them a few more times. Through voicemail messages I explained that I had no interest in hunting their land, but that I simply wanted to get to public property. As a tree service owner I explained that I would be willing to bring a trailer load of firewood, a piece of equipment to help do work on their property, or anything else that might be of used to them in exchange for that access. Eventually, after not receiving a call back I requested to at least be told no. I never did get another call back. I have known quite a few respectful, dedicated outdoorsman from Central Washington like myself who have also had similar experiences with the KV Ranch. The reason that I have relayed this story is to highlight why outdoorsman like myself have lost faith in the DFW. It is why we can read an entire 25 year plan and know that while these things might look good on paper, unless you are actually in the field putting these things to the test you will never know whether or not they are sincere. If the commissioners were hunters and fishermen, they would understand that simply including these things in a document does not make them reality.

Dear Commissioners:	2/15/2022 21:11	Commission Contact Form

I am writing you to request the Commission to reconsider their decision to suspend spring bear season.

In reading the reasons some commissioners voted against having the spring bear season it seemed "lack of population and population impact data" was a leading cause of the NO vote.

I'd like to recommend the commissioners request such data and information from WDFW, and even request that WDFW send over a representative to explain the data and answer commissioners questions prior to voting on such subjects.

The Commission should be making informed decisions based on sound science.

I believe the science to demonstrate that hunting and specifically spring bear seasons can happen while maintaining healthy populations of black bears and other wildlife.

Thanks for your time

I strongly oppose the spring bear hunt 2/16/2022 0:00 Commission Contact Form

I oppose a bear hunt. Not only is it very cruel, it upsets the families and territories of the bears. It is not necessary to cull bears because nature culls them and this upsets the balance. Apex predators are needed to control lesser species. Bears are see dispersers and by killing them you take away some of them from being able to replant needed plant life for other species as well. It is 2022, this is a new age. It is a time when more and more people care about wildlife and wild things. You are trying to satisfy the minority of stakeholders which are those who hunt. Hunters are becoming less and less and green people are gaining in numbers rapidly. You are operating in antiquated ways that are a shame and deeply hated by many. Conservation in the real sense of the word is what people seek. Protect not kill. It's time you changed to meet the desires of the majority of the stakes who hold equal rights.	2/16/2022 0:33	Commission Contact Form
Spring bear hunts in Washington are exceptionally cruel since trophy hunters can kill mother bears and cubs, and the season starts as mother bears and cubs are most vulnerable emerging from their dens following hibernation. If trophy hunters kill a mother bear and spare her cubs, they will likely die without their mother present. During springtime, bears search for early spring vegetation, making them easy targets for bear trophy hunters who scout out locations abundant in natural food sources and wait for the hungry bears to arrive. As an umbrella species, bears play a significant role in our forest ecosystems. Many other species rely on their existence. Bears are also responsible for a vital amount of seed dispersal, dispersing more seeds than birds. When bear populations decline, so do the number of plant species found in their ecosystems. Please do not lift the ban on a spring bear hunt. Do not cave to the pressure & threats of trophy hunters. Whoever it was who made threats to a Wildlife Commissioner making them feel unsafe & therefore resigning needs to be tracked down & prosecuted. This kind of illegal & threatening behavior must not be tolerated.	2/16/2022 1:44	Commission Contact Form
The activity of trophy hunting is unconscionable & reprehensible & is not in line with our prevailing values & respect for wildlife here in Washington. Trophy hunters kill indiscriminately in their quest for "trophies"; they kill mother bears & leave their cubs orphaned & unable to survive on their own & sometimes they kill the cubs too. Also egregious is the fact these hunters will kill the bears when they are the most vulnerable while foraging for food after their hibernation period. To allow such a sadistic hunt is not what we want in our state. The spring bear hunt ban needs to be made permanent!
Thank you very much for your time. Please protect the black bear population in Washington state.
I oppose the spring bear hunt. Spring bear hunting in Washington is not only necessary, but a large part of local economies in small towns in Washington. The fact it was cancelled this year based off opinion is a massive failure on the commission. It is your job to make decisions based off of the science paid for by licensed hunters and fisherman, not public opinion of non contributing factors far removed from the effects of these decisions. Black bears account for 40% of deer and elk calf deaths from ma to July and if left alone that will only grow, especially in areas like the blues, lowering bull tags in those areas is asinine as well. It is your duty to take the time to make smart informed bipartisan decisions based on science, rather than public opinion.		Commission Contact Form Commission Contact Form
Removal of spring bear is a massive failure on behalf of the commission and will not be forgotten, the impacts of this are felt across the state from licensed hunters to local economies in tag areas. Not to mention to deer fawns and elk calves that will be mowed down unchecked by a very healthy and productive black bear population. It is your duty as a commission to make decisions based off of science paid for by licensed hunters and fishermen in WASHINGTON not out of state anti hunting interest groups. Follow the science. Please prevent the spring hunting of bears. It is cruel and could decimate the species. Hallo, please use your influence to stop the spring bear hunt. Animals are living creatures they feel pain and joy. They are not industrial products and they want to live free. Killing is no protection and bears want to live. Human beings like to regulate, but this kind of regulation - killing-goes in the absolute wrong direction. Nature regulates, not human beings! I commend the four commissioners who chose to listen to the majority of their stakeholders and based their decision on ethics and science, not special interests. Spring bear hunts in Washington are exceptionally cruel since trophy hunters can kill mother bears and cubs, and the season starts as mother bears and cubs are most vulnerable emerging from their dens following hibernation. If trophy hunters kill a mother bear and spare her cubs, they will likely die without their mother present. During springtime, bears search for early spring vegetation, making them easy targets for bear trophy hunters who scout out locations abundant in natural food sources and wait for the hungry bears to arrive. As an umbrella species, bears play a significant role in our forest ecosystems. Many other species rely on their existence. Bears are also responsible for a vital amount of seed dispersal, dispersing more seeds than birds. When bear populations decline, so do the number of plant species found in their ecosystems. For all of the reasons listed above, I urge the Washington Fish and Wildlife Commission to proceed with a permanent ban on spring bear hunting in their state.	2/16/2022 6:36	Commission Contact Form
Please reconsider allowing people to trophy hunt bears and cubs in early spring when unsuspecting bears are emerging from their dens. It is the epitome of being cruel, inhumane and unfortunately contributing to the fragility of biodiversity and our environment. Please look at the bigger picture. There are lots of opportunities for engaging in sports, challenges, entertainment, and games without hurting our fragile wildlife and environment. The permission to allow early spring hunting is something to give great thought to. Please reconsider this decision. Thank you.	2/16/2022 10:47	Commission Contact Form

I recently learned of the ban on spring bear hunts and as an avid lover of environmental conservation, I would like to extend my support for the ban. Human impact on wildlife has become a tragedy in my own area of the world for different reasons and learning of trophy hunters' ability to potentially kill vulnerable mother bears would likely lead to a decrease in bear population. I understand that when keystone species numbers start to fall that this can throw off entire ecosystems. I am truly proud that your commissioners have decided to enact a ban such as this to ensure the safety of an entire species as well as ecosystems. My only hope is that this message will spread to other parts of the US so that we may preserve many other species from endangerment. Thank you for all that you do in your beautiful state and for the country as a whole.	0

Please stop this hunt and if possible, stop it for good - it just doesn't make any sense for this to continue. Thank you for your consideration.		Commission Contact Form
I am shocked to read that the cruel hunting of mother bears and their cubs is allowed in your area. This is obviously for sport - so that these people can get pleasure out of hunting and often maiming defenceless creatures - if the animals had a shotgun it would fair but they wouldn't want a human head on their walls!!!! Should be stopped immediately. There are fewer and fewer wild animals left on Earth. Extinction is Forever.	2/16/2022 15:55	Commission Contact Form

I would like to see Spring bear hunts in Washington State ended. Originally the public was led to believe spring bear hunts were needed to address pressing management issues. It has now become clear that these hunts are not necessan and they are not an effective way to address the vaguely described and undocumented management issues WDFW uses to justify having these cruel hunts. Spring bear hunting is not supported by the majority of the public because it violates basic principles of ethical hunting and "fair chase". Spring hunting and killing of females and cubs is also wrong biologically which is why no other wildlife species are hunted in the spring except non-native turkeys in WA State. These hunts, like wildlife killing contests, fit into the category of examples of the worst kind of hunting. This is why many hunters and wildlife biologists also oppose them.	,
Spring bear hunting does not reflect the values and ethics of most of the 7.7 million residents of our state. Fewer than 5% of WA residents purchase any kind of hunting license. Spring bear hunts may be popular with the 664 hunters who will participate if the hunts are held in 2022. Wildlife in WA State is a public asset and it should be managed for the public, not for the few who choose to hunt bears in the spring. Some spring bear hunters probably hunting using bait which is illegal in WA State. Some hunts are on commercial timber lands where bears are legally fed, supposedly to limit tree damage. Where, when and how much of this food is put out on commercial timber lands is a guarded secret. We do know these feeding programs attract bears, and hunters may intentionally or unintentionally hunt where feeding programs occur, which is illegal. These hunts are cruel and inhuman, and kill bears and cubs indirectly as well as directly because they occur when bears are starving, must find enough food to survive, and are most vulnerable. Food is often found in openings where bea will be seen by hunters if they try to access it. This is why hunter success is highest during the spring. Bears must choose between eating or not being shot. This is especially true for females with new cubs who must focus on protecting their cubs as well as eating. Cubs die when females do not provide enough milk. Cub mortality is high under the best circumstances.
The WDFW does not need to provide an opportunity for 664 hunters to kill bears in the spring. The regular bear hunting season was recently lengthened. It now begins on August 1st and runs until November 15th, across the state. Recently the limit per hunter was raised from 1 to 2 bears across the state. These changes should be challenged because bear density and mortality rates vary widely in different parts of our state. Bears are hunted every month they are not hibernating except July in WA state. Why isn't this enough bear hunting? Please put an end to Spring bear hunts in Washington!
Stop spring bear hunting I oppose the spring bear hunt. The so-called Skagit Elk Program is not working. The elk are living permanently on farmlands instead of moving to the "hills." This is an ecosystem issue and cannot be addressed with fertilizer, hunting permits or by grass plots in forests and blinking warning signs along Hwy 20. Those efforts have been tried and have FAILED! Farms are being contaminated by hoof rot, crops are being damaged and organic crops cannot be harvested or sold. It is time that the elk be removed from Skagit farmland. It is time to listen to the people.	2/18/2022 6:36	Commission Contact Form

Emergent Wetland (PEM1C), Freshwater Forested/Shrub Wetland habitat (PSSC), and Lake (L1UBHx). I think better ways to control or reduce reed canary grass than grazing are available. Two suggestions are either mowing or covering with weed cloth to solarize the plants and then planting native grasses and sedges. I think an argument

Dear Commission,	2/20/2022 6:22	Commission Contact Form
I am concerned with the lack of attention to the ecosystem that is the Eastern Cascade slope from Wenatchee north. In this area we, humans, have extirpated Grizzlies and Elk during the last 200 hundred years and failed to bring back either. We have done very little to recover the grizzly other than simply say they are protected and cross our fingers. Elk we actively allow wdfw managers to set management objective for populations at Zero, due to "public tolerance" claims. I am sure the hay farmers and orchardists in Walla Walla, Yakima, and Ellensburg would appreciate it if we did the same for them.
As a resident of Washington State I do not wish for a watered down version of the outdoors, I desire authentically wild places and demand the commission to stand for strong ecosystems through way of coexistence and biodiversity above all else. I wish for science based management and a focus on biodiversity and sustainable use for all user groups. What this would look like with the examples I gave is allowing for elk to establish in the north cascades eastern slope at a scientifically appropriate level and push for active recovery of grizzlies to a scientifically appropriate level.
So why challenge the ethics of hunting black bears when we have done so for thousands of years, but ignore the travesty of the grizzly? Why bicker over the population objectives in the Blues elk herd, but allow managers to effectively keep hundreds of miles of wilderness & forest in the north cascade east slope "elk free"? I understand that 100% science based management is not attainable with so many private interest groups. However, science and a desire for biodiversity in all ecosystems should always be your first lens.

Hunting seasons that target specific species, for specific objectives, are an important tool in the hands of wildlife managers. Given the currently strong populations of black bear in Washington State, and the current need to enhance the early summer survival of deer fawns and elk calves in a number of herds (which black bears can negatively impact- see Zager and Beecham 2006, among other references), there is no biological reason to oppose carefully planned spring bear hunts. In addition, black bear are a legitimate game animal, given the notable recreational and food value they provide. I urge the Department and the Commission to strongly reconsider their seemingly arbitrary removal of spring bear hunts, a hunting opportunity which has been offered for decades in Washington State without any apparent negative effect on black bear populations.
Thank you.

I strongly oppose the spring bear trophy hunting in Washington. While I highly respect whoever made the wise decision to ban the hunting of female and cub bears, this simply is not enough. The inhumane decision to reverse your	2/22/2022 18:42	Commission Contact Form

I SUPPORT the PERMANENT BAN on Spring bear hunting for the following reasons: • Spring bear hunts in Washington are exceptionally cruel since trophy hunters can kill mother bears and cubs, and the season starts as mother bears and cubs are most vulnerable emerging from their dens following hibernation. If trophy hunters kill a mother bear and spare her cubs, they will likely die without their mother present. How barbaric - how can this really be supported or endorsed? • During springtime, bears search for early spring vegetation, making them easy targets for bear trophy hunters who scout out locations abundant in natural food sources and wait for the hungry bears to arrive. Like shooting fish in a barrel. • As an umbrella species, bears play a significant role in our forest ecosystems. Many other species rely on their existence. • Bears are also responsible for a vital amount of seed dispersal, dispersing more seeds than birds. When bear populations decline, so do the number of plant species found in their ecosystems. I am quite confident there are many more facts and studies that will be presented by experts to show just cause in support of permanently banning the spring bear hunt. To conclude, I support the Washington Fish and Wildlife Commission's decision to halt the Spring Bear Hunt. Thank you. Sincerely,

I am opposed to the bear hunt. Eventually their will be no wildlife left. It's even more troubling to hear that people who speak up against hunting are also threatened. What is being done to prosecute and jail people who threaten individuals who want to save wildlife. It amazes me the number of people who derive pleasure in killing. Can't you come up with a different kind of activity for people who enjoy killing wildlife.

1. Bears only exhibit aggression when they believe there is imminent danger to themselves or their cubs. 2. We cannot simply continue to kill our natural wildlife and destroy the balance of nature because of unfounded claims of aggression, because someone wants a "trophy" or because someone feels that they are simply "in the way". We must learn to live with nature as we continue to encroach on our wildlife's natural habitat rather than decimating them.

Dear Commissioners:

Thank you.

I just now ran across WDFW's response to the baiting petition, for tomorrow's webinar, and have to say that I am appalled they are choosing to refuse taking any immediate action. I understand the need for public input (human dimensions work, as stated in their denial) but what I don't understand is the comment "roughly two years". I can see using that terminology if it was 2015 but we are on the cusp of a statewide problem. Eliminating baiting is just one of many issues that need to be sorted out with regard to CWD. But it should be the easiest. We don't have time to get every single duck in a row before action is taken against CWD. Sorting out the elk feeding stations may take years to resolve. General wildlife feeding for purposes of recreational viewing is another activity that has far-reaching impacts, and truly does require public awareness and input. We will never eliminate higher than normal concentrations of deer and elk in agricultural fields because we can't expect all farmers to till under alfalfa fields or stop planting wheat. It's an overwhelming issue and there are some things that are literally out of our control.

But baiting, or not baiting in this case, is very straightforward. There is already a rule in place that can be changed to eliminate it. It wouldn't take away the opportunity to hunt, just the manner in which people hunt.

The WDFW summary refers to "mistrust" that will occur if this change is made without public input. What about the mistrust that will occur when CWD begins to spread and the public finds out WDFW knew about the issue, had a management plan that specifically recommended ending the practice, and did not address it immediately?

What about the mantra, "Follow the science" which has been touted for years? All the science points to the problems with feeding wildlife. Ending the practice of baiting during hunting season is just the first and easiest step.

I urge you all to direct the Department of Fish and Wildlife to take immediate action and not put this off for "roughly two years". Given the proliferation of CWD, this certainly falls into the category of emergency action

WE ARE APPALLED AT THE KILLING OR BEARS THAT YOU ALLOW. REVOLTING. NO WONDER TOP SCIENTISTS SAY THERE ARE 50 BILLION TO MANY HUMANS ON THE PLANET. LEAVE THESE INNOCENT ANIMALS ALONE. WHEN WILL HUMANS EVER GROW UP.

I would like to talk to you about the commission meeting on CWD & baiting for hunting and recreational feeding. Washington Fish And Wildlife Has lost the confidence of the general public about multiple issues. You talk about CWD and how fast it's moving yes it is in the state of Idaho and moving quickly and you're right the state of Washington has drug their feet many times over . One of the issues hoof rot here on the Washington coast it has wiped out over 50% of our Roosevelt elk herds. And Washington Fish And Wildlife Biologist still haven't reduced the hunting seasons because of the disease and the amount of decline of our elk herds. And there has been other disease issues that Washington Fish And Wildlife Biologist have drug their feet on . And was too slow to react. So I hope the game commission reacts promptly and doesn't let politics and pressure from the general public get in the way of taking care of this issue. Something I think Washington Department of Fish and wildlife staff has overlooked was the potential of CWD infecting agricultural animals/livestock the potential for dogs and cats and humans we don't want this disease in the state of Washington and neither did Idaho but it showed up in Idaho and they knew it was coming so I hopeThe commission keeps the fire going underneath Washington Fish And Wildlife Biologist and staff to take care of the issue. Absolutely baiting for hunting purposes is A unethical way of hunting and unsportsmanlike. Remember wildlife first and hunters and economy second.

This message is to the Washington state fish and game commission this pertains to charter boats and guides for salmon, steelhead, sturgeon in the Columbia river and the Pacific Ocean. There should be a quota separate from the sports quota on charter boats and guides in many cases they take way too many fish out of the quota and shut the seasons down on salmon, steelhead, sturgeon. And the little boats have to suffer I mean the little sports boats that are not out there fishing every day that are just looking to feed their families and enjoy time with your families fishing. So my recommendation is put a quota on charter boats and guides they are just like a commercial fleet. They sell fish to the general public. And another issue is filling our quotas for salmon in the Columbia river And Pacific ocean too soon because of our harvest a way to relieve this Issue is to make us go to artificial lures in the Columbia river salmon fishery if we are getting close to our quota. Absolute no Bait/scent would help slow down the catching of salmon no Bait no scent.lt would help us extend our salmon/steelhead seasons. And you have to recognize and do something about the predators in the Columbia River and the Washington coast bays, rivers, streams it is destroying our salmon, steelhead, sturgeon Populations and you and fish and wildlife are taking way too long to react and solve the problem. Again Washington alm yille and I have never seen such distress in the state Washington and its wildlife management and fish management.

Wanton blood-lust is coming from. First the wanting to hunt cougar with dogs, now to hunt bears just as they are coming out of hibernation? Cruel and inhumane. No Spring bear hunt.	2/25/2022 19:32	Commission Contact Form
With the aggressive loss of habitats and the consequential decline in many species (quail, grouse), all hunting should be curtailed. Don't wait for it to happen!!!
All of our wild lands' policies have to be very flexible and reactive to a quickly changing world where changes happen so fast one doesn't have time for a year of debate. The lead stakeholder should be the fragile ecosystem, not humans. We have promulgated the latter forever and that's not working!
So no spring bear hunts. Plug the bloodlust. It's so uncivilized and those of you supporting such should be ashamed to want to kill an animal at its most vulnerable. At least you're not proposing a hibernation hunt! Spring is not much different.
Thanks for keeping us informed.
PS: I have a neighbor who shoots ducks in/on the Skagit river water. What should I do about that? And the river poses a fire danger in late summer so no one should be shooting on the river. He also hunts at night. Even Fir Island has gotten too populated to allow hunting off one's back porch, back yard, in the river, etc. we all have our work cut out for us.
ban hunting/trapping I would like to bring up the issue of baiting and using scent. If the commission wants to make it illegal to bait then the WDFW needs to also stop putting out their feeders as well. The fact that the commission believes that baiting and using scents causes CWD is absolutely incorrect.	2/25/2022 20:45 g 2/26/2022 0:32	Commission Contact Form Commission Contact Form

So if feeding deer and elk is going to be illegal in this state does that mean the WDFW Winter Feeding programs will be discontinued as well? It seems very hypocritical that when the WDFW makes it illegal for citizens to feed deer and elk but the WDFW continues feeding programs? I would expect those programs to be shutdown and then deer and elk suffer. Lawsuits will be filed due to the hypocracy of this ignorant plan. The feeding programs ran by WDFW draw in many more animals to a single location than any private citizen feeder location thus providing a much higher potential for spread of CWD. Is this FACT conveniently being ignored just to stab hunters in the back again? I expect a response to my questions/comments.
to my questions/comments. Strenge Gesetze und Regelungen unter Beachtung von Tierschutz und Umwelt. Bear hunting must be permanently banned. As a bow hunter that hunts primarily in the thick whitetail country in the northeastern part of the state I am pleading with you not to end the baiting of deer and elk. At least not for bow hunting. I am a life long sport fisherman on the lower Columbia. I want to express my frustration with the most recent decision to expand gillnetting on the lower Columbia. In a River with many ESA listed stocks, expanding gillnetting seems like a step back in conservation. In a time when our summer steelhead our returning at record lows, and the governor is proposing potential gillnet license buyback programs to get them out of the river. I am not anti commercial fishing, I believe they have a part in the resource and supplying fresh fish to local markets. The Spring Bear Hunt is cruel and should not be continued. There is no way to ensure that females with cubs will not be shot and killed, leaving the cubs to starve to death. The Spring Bear Hunt does not comply with the mission statement of the WDFW because it is not "sustainable". When balancing hunters interests with those of the rest of the state, this barbaric practice does not fit in and needs to end.
I hope I can count on your vote against the Spring Bear Hunt. I am writing to implore you to extend the ban on the spring bear hunt. This planet is their home too, and since we've encroached on so much of their lands 3/4/2022 15:21 already, killing bears when at their most vulnerable is just cruel and wrong. There needs to be a balance and compassion between man and wildlife, and not allowing bear hunting in spring each year is a great way to start.

bear hunting. Hunters are unable to distinguish between female and male bears, and nursing mothers will often stow their cubs in a safe place out of sight when they forage during the spring. In spring, black bears are at their most vulnerable state, weak from hunger and sluggish from hibernation. Food is scarce, requiring bears to forage in clearings with no cover.
WDFW singles bears out for spring hunting. Because of the stress that spring hunting puts on all wildlife populations as they recover from winter and rear their young, Washington does not allow spring hunting of any other species except turkey.
The wildlife Society of America (2019) determined that "Disparities between expected and empirically derived bear density illustrate the need for more rigorous monitoring to understand processes that affect population numbers throughout the jurisdiction and suggest that management plans may need to be reevaluated to determine if current harvest strategies are achieving population objectives."

The proposal is to make the hunt permanent so it does not have to be approved each year. This change means virtual abandonment of wildlife management principles. It appears to be setting the number of annual permits at approximately 664 permits split across set GMUs no matter what happens to bear populations. It also assumes only 145 bears will be killed. Would 664 killed bears be sustainable? Is anything environmental considered in this fixed number, like bears lost to wildfires? Where is the science behind these numbers?

The proposal prohibits killing female bears with cubs. This is a nod to the concern about orphaned cubs, but is completely unenforceable. Also, a female might leave her cubs behind in a safe place while she goes looking for food, or they might not be visible in tall grass or shrubs. There is no way to ensure protection of cubs during a spring bear hunt except to have no hunt.

The hunt is unethical. The bears are slow, weak, and hungry as they come out of winter. They may be forced to forage in open areas. There is no element of "fair chase" in this hunt. Also, private forest managers set up bear feeding stations to protect their trees. If hunters are allowed in these areas, this is the equivalent of bear bailting, which is illegal. Both of these situations make this not a hunt, but target shooting.

You do not allow hunting of any other animals (except turkeys for some reason) in spring. This is an acknowledgement that spring puts extra stress on animals as they are raising and protecting their young, and they should be left alone. There is no reason bears should be singled out as an acceptable species to kill in the spring.

Finally, the proposal states that a "central part" of the Department's mandate is to provide recreational hunting opportunities. From the WDFW website, the Department is "dedicated to preserving, protecting, and perpetuating the state's fish, wildlife, and ecosystems while providing sustainable fish and wildlife recreational and commercial opportunities." That does not state that hunting is central, far from it. The first part of the mission is primary; if those goals aren't met, you can't have any hunting. Also, fish and wildlife "opportunities" are not just about hunting. There are many more campers, hikers, and wildlife watchers than there are hunters. I think it is safe to say there would be more opposition than support from them.

Please do not approve a spring bear hunt, this year or any year.

Dear Commissioners,

I am vehemently opposed to spring bear hunts, in my state of Washington, as well as all others. How obscene, to encourage killing of bears when they are first coming out of and groggy from hibernation. Can we verify we are not killing nursing mothers!? Come on! Add poaching and illegal baiting and it violates all things ethical about hunting and membership in the human race.

For all we know, bears are being over hunted (managed) in WA. Where's the valid, scientifically derived data? Please, let's use ethics and science to drive our decision-making. STOP these spring bear hunts. Advocate for coexistence. Let's do something Washingtonians can be proud of.

Thank you.

Spring bear hunting brings out the best of the best. These are not just weekend warriors, while there is nothing wrong with that, these spring bear hunters have multiple years invested in applications, scouting and planning. They know their pursuit inside and out. A majority have waited 8-9 years or longer for this opportunity to hunt spring bear. Picking a mature boar is the goal of anyone who draws this tag. Shooting a sow with cubs is in no way why folks apply for this tag. Harvesting a boar has many benefits from helping recruitment of elk calves and deer fawns, (which the Blues needs all the help it can get) saving cubs from a gruesome death by being killed by a boar so that the sow goes back into heat, to the biggest benefit: time spent outdoors with family and friends. We are not merely a spectator of nature but an active participant of wildlife management, walking among the bears and wildlife as the woods come back to life after a long cold winter. One of the greatest reasons for this hunt is the amazing table fare, from peperoni and summer sausage to the roasts and my personal favorite canned bear with garlic and jalapeno to make street tacos. I have friends and family who have never tried it before and this is now their number one requested dish at gatherings. Many of which do not hunt but they too benefit from the experience. I love to share what the wildlife world has to offer in the ways of sustainable table fare and outdoor interaction. I will not bore you with facts and figures as you already have that info at your disposal. Instead all I can ask is that you look at the data, along what it truly means to be a hunter and patinate wildlife conservationists who love all wildlife and the places they call home. Please vote yes for spring bear.

Thank you

Please vote no on the proposal. Strongly oppose the Spring Bear Hunt.

Thank you,

Commissioners,

The recent vote to cancel the spring bear hunt in WA state was not a science based decision. The evidence produced by science supports a spring bear hunt in WA state. The bear population studies, historical harvest reports of WA and harvest reports of neighboring states supports the need of a spring bear hunt for WA State.

During Governor Jay Inslee's last campaign he repeatedly referenced WA state as being a Government lead by science. During the campaign Jay Inslee quoted, his decisions and the decisions of those under him will be lead by science based evidence. Yet, the recent vote to cancel the WA state spring bear hunt was not backed by science based evidence. Rather it was influenced by special interest groups and those groups ability to emotionalize this decision with the commission members.

The Governor is voted in by the people of this state. The Wildlife Commission positions are appointed by the Governor. The Commission needs to support Governor Inslee's promises of science based decision making by reinstating the spring bear hunt in WA State.

Best regards,

Please keep the biologically justified spring bear hunt. This is an important wildlife management tool and provides quality outdoor recreation and sustainable protein for our residents. Don't be intimidated by out of state anti hunting groups. Thank you.

Comments on the proposal to legalize the killing of black bears in the Spring:
We live in a democracy where the majority is supposed to rule. In the State of Washington the vast majority of its citizens do NOT favor the hunting of black bears in the Spring season of the year. I also join this vast majority in condemning the slight-of-hand maneuver within the Commission to possibly sneak in the legalization of Spring black bear hunting.
To join the backward wildlife managed states of Idaho, Utah and Wyoming in allowing Spring black bear hunts would only bring the State of Washington down to their pathetically low level.
There is absolutely no scientific or ethical reason to allow the killing of black bears in the Spring, when mothers are with their cubs and the cubs are often hidden out of sight from the shooter's view.
Please do your civic and moral duty by NOT permitting a Spring black bear hunt to proceed in 2022 and ban all further Spring black bear hunts in the future.
I am worried that your site is being overrun with the same people commenting again and again for the spring bear hunt and that these few people will be the only voices heard in relation to this proposed hunt. Please know that many more people are against this hunt and only trophy hunters are for it. It is not a valid form of bear (or any type of wildlife) management and is not necessary as a dead bear does no one any good and a bear head on a wall is sick and tacky and a waste of our dwindling wild bears. Don't cave to the repeaters, please take into consideration all single voices and real conservation measures that don't require killing anything.	3/8/2022 17:36	Commission Contact Form
The spring bear hunt is plain wrong and not called for / necessary. There is no need for it and It would just be plain immoral despite the misguided comments by hunters. Please ignore the trophy hunters and heed your own research and management plans about Washington black bears. Experience has shown that spring bear hunts is cruel, and exploits bears at their weakest time, which inevitably leads to orphaned cubs that will die. Thank you for your time.
Sirs - There has been enough of studying the wolves!!! No more studies!!! In many states the wolves have become an problem and have had to reduce the numbers to protect their deer, elk, and stock populations. Some are using 1000 dollar bounties. Others are reducing wolf numbers by 90% and some by 80%. In Washington state back in the 1990s you decided 10 pairs would be the number of wolves Washington would accept. Since then the numbers have blossomed until there are tagged wolves way higher then the agreed to numbers. You say you have 132 wolves - 24 packs plus Colville count of 48 wolves - 5 packs. Those are the known numbers and there would be some that were not counted. You can figure you will have 59 more wolves next year. The wolves numbers should be kept in range where the prey and stock numbers arent devistated. Remember there was are also cougar and bear hunting them.	3/8/2022 18:47	Commission Contact Form

Another issue that should be addressed is the ranchers and farmers loss of stock. When the wolves kill a beef, sheep, goat or horse the rancher or farmer should be recompensed not only for that animals loss but also for the progeny of that animal - up to what that animal would have produced and what the progeny would have produced. The rancher and farmer lose more then just that animal if an animal is lost a wolf should be removed!! The city people may not understand it but those animals are the country people's income. Also West side doesn't need an increase where the wolves are wandering through housing developments where it is hard to control them.

No more range riders just reduce the predators!!!

I have spent many summers cruising the saltwater coasts from Olympia to Juneau. I am very familiar with black bears and I oppose a Spring black bear hunt! These important animals will already be facing a huge change in environment 3/8/2022 18:48 Commission Contact Form because of human activities. Climate change and loss of habitat will limit their future. These animals are shy and intelligent, not the ferocious and scary. We do not need trophy hunters to further decimate their population. The money used to organize a Spring hunt would be better spent relocating the bears who stray into people places, lured by access to food. I have observed black bears eating grass, munching on berries and enriching soils with their left over fish carcasses along streams. More often I have just seen their spat since they would rather not come close to humans and are aware of human presence early enough to disappear. These are gentle giants who do not deserve to be mounted on trophy hunter's walls! Please do not have a Spring Black Bear Kill! Roxana Caples Let the beauty of what you love be what you do.

this was the first year that I was going to be able to bring my wife and 3 daughters along for the ride with me. We were planning to create new memories whether successful or not of being out in the woods and experiencing nature. I want to show my girls the beautiful forests of Washington and the bountiful harvest that it can yield. Allowing a spring bear hunt means a lot to my family and I as we utilize the meat from this animal to put food on our plates year-round.

There is a wide resistance and objection to allowing trophy hunting of bears or for any other reasons. I have never even seen a bear in the wild and that experience is being robbed from me and other people who appreciate our natural

Thank you for taking the time to read this as this issue means a great deal to my family and we look forward to our annual spring bear hunt

I am a NON-HUNTER, which is very different from an ANTI-HUNTER, altho I am an ANTI-UNETHICAL HUNTER. The Spring Bear Hunt is unethical in many ways, from the fact it has morphed from being a special hunt for the purpose of damage control to potentially being a regular yearly RECREATIONAL HUNT. The process of moving to possible rule-making by the Commission has been tainted by the flux of Commissioners recently taking place, and votes that have taken advantage of a temporary imbalance of membership. We all know this.

3/8/2022 18:50 Commission Contact Form

This hunt is also unethical due to the fact it occurs in the Spring when bears are at a great disadvantage due to just coming out of hibernation, and the fact of new cubs. This is not remedied by making it illegal to kill sows and cubs. Reporting when this occurs is flawed at best for many reasons. Even yearling cubs are still learning how to survive from their mothers.

Some members of the Commission regularly site the WDFW mandate to provide "maximum hunting opportunities". How much hunting opportunity is "enough" when this activity conflicts with other users who find they cannot enjoy their wildlife activities at the same time hunting is occurring. The balance is already overwhelmingly tilted toward hunting most of the year. If multiple users cannot be accommodated simultaneously, fairness becomes an issue in terms of who gets to do what, and when.

All of this is political science and often ignores any biological science that might inform these matters, despite the fact that the term "science" is a constant political claim by all sides on this issue.

You have all heard every talking point on all sides of the Spring Bear Hunt multiple times. It has become a contentious issue. The hunt is not supported by the majority of Washingtonians, or by Ethical Hunters. It is not supported by biological science. There are ample opportunities to kill bears without needing this to become a regular, recreational hunt. It is not needed for damage control or population control.

For the sake of prudence-caution-ethics-fairness, and biological science, the entire concept of a Spring Bear Hunt should be taken off the table for good.

I strongly encourage the commission to follow the WDFW professional biologist's scientifically based recommendations and to implement the 2022 spring bear season. The original vote by the commission which deadlocked on a decision 3/8/2022 22:26 is baffling to those of us that love the time we spend enjoying the outdoors pursuing the hunting opportunities provided in Washington. I understand the divide that exists between those opposed to bear hunting and those that do. Many issues in our contemporary society are being met with increasing militancy and the divisions between us are becoming starker. This divide is particularly alarming as hunters have the same basic goals as many opposed to bear hunting in terms of population and habitat protection for Washington's wildlife.

Commission Contact Form

Hunters in Washington should be viewed as a minority population as hunter numbers make up a small percentage of residents. Our only protection are legislative mandates to provide sustainable recreational hunting opportunities. The spring bear permit hunts are composed of a limited opportunity for participation that falls within safe population thresholds based on the data provided by WDFW staff.

Hunters are strong supporters of the North American Model of Wildlife Management. We appreciate the efforts of WDFW to link available harvest with sound population management. The spring permits will not have negative population consequences for black bears in the GMU's where proposed. I trust upon reconsideration of the spring bear regulations, that the commission will make the right decision to implement the hunts as proposed by WDFW. I am against the Washington Department of Fish & Wildlife's efforts to institute a 2022 Spring Bear Hunt.

First I would like to make it clear that I am not against hunting. For years I had a residence in Yaak, Montana, and many of my friends and neighbors there relied on wild game for food supply. They respected the animals, and the residents there resented the trooply hunters that killed "iust for fun".

I have followed the sad slaughter of wolves and cougars in Washington State, sanctioned through the policies of the WDFW (with a personal incident occurring close to my property). I had not until recently followed the controversial spring bear hunts.

Reviewing the materials regarding this issue, I discovered that many other states are banning spring bear hunts for good reasons, ethical and scientific. I also discovered that the overwhelming majority of the Washington population opposes spring bear hunting, so I am at a loss to understand why WDFW would consider sanctioning this when their primary mission is to protect and preserve wildlife.

Bears are being over hunted in Washington. WDFW representatives have stated that their "jobs are hard and data is difficult to gather". Yet words like robust and stable are used freely to describe bear populations, even though data is hard to gather.

Studies show that bear hunting does not reduce tree damage or conflict.

Hunters claim recreational killing of black bears manages problem bears. But the larger issue is how to manage problem people causing the conflicts with their improper food storage, garbage, dogs and lack of precautions. Aside from that, most of the hunts and the bears killed are well removed from communities and areas where conflict might occur.

Of course there is the ethical issue of killing bears in a weakened, vulnerable state emerging from hibernation. An Ontario study made it clear how difficult it is to distinguish which bears are nursing mothers, and most hunters took the shot, with the resulting effect of death for the cubs.

It is my hope that WDFW, instead of pandering to special interests and a minority of consumers as they have in the past, will respect the values of the majority of the populace and preserve our wildlife by banning spring bear hunts. The WDFW nicely calls the hunted animals a "harvest" like the animals are wheat instead of living mammals like ourselves. At least they should call it what it is.

Thank you for reviewing my comments.

I appreciate your service. But, you serve the people, the wildlife, not hunters and are paid by the tax dollars of the tax payers who by a majority oppose the Spring Bear Hunt.

I implore with you to do what you can to stop the Spring Bear Hunt and put an end to them permanently. I am a travel RN of 6 years and though your state has tremendous needs in your hospitals, I and many other RN's I know can not in good conscience come to a state that allows such cruel and unnecessary acts as the Spring Bear Hunt. Washington already has a very bad reputation with the decades long killing of wolves. Many of us refuse to go to Montana, Idaho, etc bc of their repulsive behavior towards wildlife. Our own human population is so very great compared to these animals who are just trying to live as well as they can in overdeveloped habitat and that which has been ravaged by wildfires. Our own human population is the most destructive to be honest.

There is enough sadness and suffering in the world. As a nurse I see it every time I go to work. Can we please have less of it and show mercy and kindness to these bears? Thank you,

Patricia Massari, RN

I am writing to advocate for bears. To ask that there not be a spring bear hunt and that instead we promote a peaceful coexistence with these beautiful and inspiring animals.

Humans don't need to hunt them, most of the people that hunt beads do it because they enjoy it.

Please end this cruel practice.

How can you allow hunt these animals anytime it needs stopping

Please do not have a Spring hunt on the bears. I once thought that Game and Fish commissions were good because I thought they helped wildlife. As I have gotten older I realize that's not the case. It seems Game and Fish Commissions 3/9/2022 13:07 are ones who want animals to be hunted and killed and that's what they do an organization that allows our wildlife to be hunted and killed. We need more protections for our wildlife not less and we all need to realize the need for predators in our wildlife as well. This spring bear hunt is nothing more than to allow people who have a desire to kill hunt and kill our wildlife. Animals that are necessary for our planet and deserve to live freely and not hunted and brutally killed just because your organization said they can. Please protect the beautiful Bears God created and stop this horrid and abusive hunt on our wildlife.

I am against the spring bear hunt. We need to widen our circle of compassion and learn to coexist with our wild neighbors who just want to live and love their families just the same as you and me. I support the Washington Fish and Wildlife Commission's decision to halt the Spring Bear Hunt and act as a reassurance to the Washington Fish and Wildlife Commission that an overwhelming number of their stakeholders are against spring bear hunting.

I commend the four commissioners who chose to listen to the majority of their stakeholders and based their decision on ethics and science, not special interests.

Please keep the ban on spring bear hunt.

Thanks, Tom.

Dear Commissioners, Please OPPOSE the Washington spring bear hunt! This is extremely cruel and unnecessary. These animals should be left alone, free to live their lives in peace.

Please put a stop to hunting and introduce educating of the public to wilderness protection and respect. Bear spring hunting is specially cruel they are most vulnerable when they come out of hibernation, weak and hungry. Specially the mothers with their babies why kill them? Bears are so important for nature's balance. They are also a great tourism resource, people enjoy the wilderness why deprive the people who love and respect nature? It is true that we must be careful about them, but what can you expect from a mother defending her cubs? Leave them alone, let them live in peace and let the people have a chance to enjoy Nature instead of making them witness horrible situations. Hunting is not an innocent activity it is a permit to commit murder, this must not be.	3/9/2022 17:07	Commission Contact Form

I am writing to express support of the decision to halt the Spring Bear Hunt, and as well, am firmly against spring bear hunting. I am writing to you today in hopes that you will not reinstate the spring bear hunt. These animals need their protections to be kept in tact so that they can thrive. These creatures play a vital role in the ecosystem and hunting them has proven that it does not limit bear-to-human interactions. I am writing to request that in the interests of natural resources, biodiversity and protecting our ecosystems here in WA, you oppose any effort to create a spring hunt for bears. A hunt in spring is unsportsmanlike and risks viability of future bear populations if cubs are orphaned. Please make sure this is not part of Washington hunting seasons. Thank you.	3/9/2022 17:27	Commission Contact Form
Please protect bears from the spring hunt. As we enter another great extinction, this one man-made, we should double our efforts on the behalf of wildlife. Trophy hunters come and go but animals need a advocates to be their voices.	3/9/2022 18:09	Commission Contact Form
The bear trophy hunters who desperately want Washington's spring bear hunt reinstated have resorted to bullying and death threats to pressure the WDFW Commissioners into reinstating the hunt. In an effort to silence those of us in opposition, the bear trophy hunters have been trying to fill up all of the speaking spots at the upcoming meeting, much like they have been doing on the public comment forum. Either your governor is an environmentalist or he isn't. Save these bears lives. They don't deserve this fate.	3/9/2022 18:29	Commission Contact Form
It is hard to believe you are about to let the bear hunts proceed. All I ask is this: are you ok with a planet free of wildlife, where the only animals besides humans are cows, pigs, chickens, dogs and cats?	3/9/2022 18:29	Commission Contact Form
Because it is actions like this that get us closer and closer to a world where livestock and people are the only animals left. Have some compassion, but more importantly, have some pride in protecting all life on earth. Please end these barbaric and cruel bear hunts immediately. There is no excuse that is strong enough to do otherwise.
I want to express my strong opposition to opening up trophy hunting in Washington for a trophy bear hunt in the spring and ask you to take very seriously the public input and public opposition that has been voiced about this and also take into account what is apparent – the pressure that pro-hunting interests are putting on this issue – Safari Club International is a strong advocate for trophy hunting and has been part of the unfair and unethical and frightening pressure to approve the Spring Bear Hunt in Washington.	3/9/2022 18:40	Commission Contact Form
I strongly support the Washington Fish and Wildlife Commission's decision to halt the Spring Bear Hunt. Please reject this proposed spring bear hunt and take seriously overwhelming public input – input that is not based on coercion but is based on real reasons why a bear hunt in the Spring is unacceptable for advocates and more specifically for unsuspecting, innocent bears who are just emerging from the winter – who have new families – the idea of not taking this into account – of literally blowing apart bear families as they emerge – of doing something where it is likely that orphan bears will be the consequences – with no mother to guide them and teach them – no matter how much lip service is given to not killing mothers with cubs. That is something that common sense says will not be part of the outcome and for those advocating for a spring hunt of bears – a trophy hunt – the idea of being careful about mothers and families is most definitely not a real priority – even if it is tacitly remembered at times to include in words – words are not supporting action or mindset. Please consider the overwhelming public input from hon-hunters, from those who care about bears - from those imploring you to stand with the four commissioners who rejected this Washington Spring Bear Hunt and who are doing so for scientific and ethical reasons – respecting that bears are living individuals who are living their lives.
There is no rational reason for instituting a Spring Bear Hunt except for the purpose of satisfying a special interest – that special interest is the killing of bears for trophies.
Spring bear hunts in Washington are exceptionally cruel since trophy hunters can kill mother bears and cubs, and the season starts as mother bears and cubs are most vulnerable emerging from their dens following hibernation. If trophy hunters kill a mother bear and spare her cubs, they will likely die without their mother present. During springtime, bears search for early spring food, making them easy targets for bear trophy hunters who scout out locations where these natural food sources are and will wait for the hungry bears to arrive. This is a trophy hunt and very much a canned hunt. Thank you in advance for doing the right thing and standing behind the Washington Fish and Wildlife Commission's decision to halt the Spring Bear Hunt.
Sincerely, Rosa Weisfeld

abundant in natural food sources and wait for the hungry bears to arrive. As an umbrella species, bears play a significant role in our forest ecosystems. Many other species rely on their existence. Bears are also responsible for a vital amount of seed dispersal, dispersing more seeds than birds. When bear populations decline, so do the number of plant species found in their ecosystems.

Why are trophy hunters trying to take the lead and influence decision making and pressuring opening the spring bear hunt in the state of Washington? I support the decision to stop this hunt. It is also a commendation to the 4 3/9/2022 19:53 commissioners who chose to listen to stakeholders and to make their decision on science and ethics and not special interests. Mothers and cubs are in danger of being killed or cubs left orphaned to die. I personally have witnessed bears baited and hunted in Canada and it is cruel. Bears are important to the ecosystem. They, like other wildlife, are trying to survive. First it is the wolves and now the bears. All wildlife is under threat due to special interests. Please listen to the people who must represent the animals and follow the science and do not permit this hunt. Thank You.

with regard, Salvatore Greco. Commissioners, I am writing to express my support for the spring bear hunt you are considering, which qualified WDFW staff have determined is sustainable. This hunt is consistent with your legislative mandate to maximize hunting opportunities compatible with healthy wildlife populations. As I have read through the comments on WDFW's Spring Bear webpage, I have been saddened. The opposition comments are hurtful, using terms like murder, cowards, killers. For those of us who have experienced hunting as a p for treasured family moments and for direct participation in our food supply, these comments are difficult to read. I hope that it is clear to the Fish and Wildlife Commission that many of the opposition comments are associated w groups of animal rights activists who are hostile to the legislative mandate of the Commission. It is also clear that this issue has been advertised on animal rights websites, urging their members to oppose no matter where they re Some of these comments indicate they are writing from other countries. As you know, wildlife in Washington is held in trust for the benefit of Washingtonians and these comments just don't seem pertinent to that trust. Reading through the opposition comments, it is also clear that many of the respondents advocate for the eradication of all hunting in Washington. This seems like a key moment, where you can choose to embolden these groups of them know that you take your mandate to provide sustainable hunting opportunities seriously. Thank you.	atform ith side. I am very concerned about the spring bear hunt. Washington is one of only eight states that allow this barbaric hunt. The process of allowing this hunt was an abuse of power. The vote was held only days before Gov. Inslee appointed new commissioners and appears to pander to a select small group of the hunting community. Spring bear hunts orphan bear cubs. The sows are just coming out of hibernation with one to four cubs right into the crosshairs of a hunter. With the mother dead, the cubs either starve to death or are killed by other predators. This is an extremely unpopular event. Only 15% of the people surveyed support this activity. That obviously leaves 85% who are very opposed to this hunt. Your opening lines to your agency says to establish policies to preserve, protect, and perpetuate. Please protect these mothers and cubs; otherwise you appear to be a willing accomplice in this inhumane practice. Over the past 11 years, trophy hunters killed nearly half a million black bears in the U.S. In 2020 alone, 50,000 bears were hunted in 32 states. The killing continues, despite the fact that bears are beloved and valued parts of our natural world.
I want to be a voice for bears. Let us remember what Mahatma Gandi said: "The greatness of a nation and its moral progress can be judged by the way its animals are treated." Let us all try to coexist with wildlife so that we can live side by side with these species.
Everyone can have a hand in keeping bears (and people) safe just by taking simple, commonsense precautions. Bears capably self-regulate their own populations and don't need humans to do it for them. In short, these trophy hunts simply cannot be justified and must be stopped.

My name is Angelica C, and a big fan of black and brown bears. For instance, I am utterly against reinstalling bear hunting season for the following reasons:

I believe the Washington Fish and Wildlife Department should ban bear hunting because of permanent ecosystem damage. Hunting bears causes a negative indirect effect on wildlife balance that has not been contemplated in this rulemaking decision, amend WAC 220-415-080. First, hunting male bears can promote infanticide counterstrategies from the surviving male population. (Agrell et al. 1998, Ebensperger 1998, Palombit 2015). Female bears to avoid infanticidal males restrict foraging behavior and carry a nutritive cost (Steyaert et al., 2013). The reproductive costs imposed by habitat and diet selection constraints could decrease female reproductive success (Wielgus and Bunnell 1994, 2000: Wielgus et al. 2001). Also, bear hunting can indirectly contribute to negative population growth through increased juvenile mortality (Swenson et al. 1997, 2001; Swenson 2003; Gosselin et al. 2015, 2017). Cub survival was negatively correlated with the removal of males from the population (24% and 42% lower 0.5 and 1.5 yr after harvest, respectively; Swenson et al.1997). Finally, harvest by hunting is usually selective. In North America, hunters may show preference toward more giant and older bears, primarily males (McLellan and Shackleton 1988, Kohlmann et al. 1999). The disproportionate removal of older and male bears could disrupt population age and sex structure, but it could also artificially select smaller and less reproductively successful phenotypes. As you can see, there are multiple adverse effects on bear behavior and survival when humans selectively induce a bear control population.

We also need to remember that bears play an essential role in the ecosystem. They help in seed dispersion; black bears eat a lot of fruit and vegetation, so they are amongst the main seed dispersion agents. Also, bears provide indirect food to other species, such as bald eagles who land nearby to feed on the salmon leftovers, and by dragging salmon carcasses through the forest, they help enrich the soil. Finally, bears act as a natural growth booster for trees and other forest cover vegetation when they deposit scat on the forest floors.

Regarding using sport or game hunting as a conservation model, I encourage exploring other successful alternatives to control wildlife. I come from Colombia, where hunting has been banned since 2019; we don't get into the dilemma of harvesting or managing bear or any predator population there because we learn that animals possess more value alive and are crucial to balance the ecosystem. In 1996 Colombia signed the Biological Diversity Agreement and a National Biodiversity Policy, a commitment to conserving its species richness. Now Colombia is the second most biodiverse country in the world. Colombia has sustainable economic growth, with excellent ecotourist potential contributing to biodiversity conservation. Recently I visited another country, Costa Rica, and I was amazed at how this country manages and protects its Natural Resources. Hunting has been banned there since 2012 and is a role model country in terms of eco suitability. The law protects all big mammals and predators. My invitation is to review the model for wildlife conservation implemented by these two countries and contemplate introducing them as a part of your wildlife management.

My last word in this discussion is that most of the U.S. population does not participate in-game or sports hunts. Wild watchers are nearly twice as numerous as hunters, according to a 2016 U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service (FWS). Why be nohunters relegated to minority status or excluded entirely when deciding how wildlife is managed? It is antithetical and unequal that one group would be granted greater access to wildlife management. Thank you. Angelica

I strongly oppose WDFW's proposed amendments to WAC 220-415-080.	3/11/2022 0:03	Commission Contact Form

Spring bear hunts are immoral and anachronistic. They were originally organized at the behest of the timber industry to stop hungry bears from stripping bark from trees to reach the sweet sap underneath. But the efficacy of this approach has never even been documented! So the WDFW is now expected to permanently approve a spring bear hunt simply to "preserve a hunting tradition," if we are to believe hunting advocacy groups. This is circular reasoning at its worst.

Regulating that mother bears and offspring are not to be "taken," does little to mitigate the cruelty of this hunt. Bears that are starved from hibernation emerge to a world that is just starting to provide the year's food. Hunting bears at this time just increases the stress these animals are under and makes it more difficult for mother bears to raise their offspring and for their offspring to thrive.

And mother bears are killed very year 'by accident' regardless!

Please save the bears from trophy hunters. Please don't let them hunt...

I strongly oppose the spring bear hunt. Any hunt really, unless one needs the kill to survive.

If you want to make the spring bear hunt permanent, show us how much money we are saving the timber companies. Then we can decide if we want to sell our souls for that amount.

We are better than this, Washington.

I ask that you stand strong against a bear hunt in your state. Florida, my primary residence did cave to pressure and held a bear hunt several years ago. It was to last three weeks or so. In the first weekend, first two or three days, over 300 bears were slaughtered. The bears, unafraid of humans, stood and stared at the hunters while the hunters shot them. The state Governor stopped the hunt after the total limit was reached, as I said, in about three days. Relocate, limit development, limit human impact, try other ways to keep humans and bears apart. Commission Contact Form We commend the four commissioners who chose to listen to the majority of their stakeholders and based their decision on ethics and science, not special interests. Spring bear hunts in Washington are exceptionally cruel since trophy hunters can kill mother bears and cubs, and the season starts as mother bears and cubs are most vulnerable emerging from their dens following hibernation. If trophy hunters kill a mother bear and spare her cubs, they will likely die without their mother present. During springtime, bears search for early spring vegetation, making them easy targets for bear trophy hunters who scout out locations abundant in natural food sources and wait for the hungry bears to arrive. Additionally, the Washington Department of Fish and Wildlife permits the hunts through the Bear Timber Depredation Management Program to support the timber industry, targeting famished bears in spring post-hibernation when some bears peel tree bark back to reach the sweet sap underneath for a quick snack. When foresters find one damaged tree, WDFW grants a permit to kill two bears. Reports have found that wildlife officials do not substantiate claims made by foresters that bears are damaging trees on timber farms. They do not have to provide any proof before being allowed to kill bears.

The WDFW has stated that the spring bear hunt mitigates bear timber damage and minimizes human-bear interactions while providing additional recreational opportunities. However, they fail to mention that there is NO scientific evidence to support their claims. We know for a fact that hunting does not reduce bear-human conflicts.

As an umbrella species, bears play a significant role in our forest ecosystems. Many other species rely on their existence. Bears are also responsible for a vital amount of seed dispersal, dispersing more seeds than birds. When bear populations decline, so do the number of plant species found in their ecosystems.

For all of the reasons listed above, I urge the Washington Fish and Wildlife Commission to proceed with a permanent ban on spring bear hunting in their state.

Please oppose the Spring Bear Hunt!

I signed up early to testify at the spring bear hearing today. I listened to multiple lengthy comments in particular from Commissioner McIssac before the meeting was opened to public testimony. First and for most, i am for spring bear hunt, and would like to echo, population is high, spring harvest is low, and is a management tool.

I held on hold for entire meeting and didn't get a chance to speak. id like to use this platform and do so now. I hope it reaches all commissioners.

Probably more importantly though is, the lack of respect towards staff, and how little weight there recommendation holds is shocking!!! I felt both offended and sorry for them, and especially Stephanie. I can only imagine how much time, and resources, went were put in the last several months trying to put together packets of data, and answers to any, and all questions asked, after several meetings only to be rejected almost immediately, again. First thing that came to mind was what a waste of resources, in a department where resources are limited. Makes me personally wonder, why and how, this commission is here in the first place, and if it is able to successfully help manage wildlife in this state. I can't imagine I'm the only one feeling this way at the end of this meeting, to be honest, most meetings lately

I hope this still comes across as respectful, it is not my intention to insult. But express my point of view.

I am commenting in reference to the 3/11 Spring Bear meeting.

During the meeting I have to admit that I felt that a good portion of the Commissioner's had biased views on the issue. It was very upsetting to see Dr. Stephanie Simek's presentation dismissed by a couple of the Commissioners. What qualifies a commissioner to proclaim the science and data presented by a WDFW Staff member with a Doctrine on the species and subject in question, as not being sufficient? I found this to be overwhelmingly arrogant, rude and disappointing. That is not your job Commissioner.

The hope is that you will listen to the experts presented to you, weigh public input and make a decision based on the information and comments given. Not you past experience in an unrelated field. Dr. Stephanie Simek is our State's leading expert on the subject. I believe her recommendations need to taken more seriously by the commission.

Calling for more science is what everyone wants and the dept strives for it. That being said, we have enough information at present to move forward with a Spring hunt in confidence it will not damage the resource.

It feels as if the Commission has been stacked against the WDFW staff and Sportsman alike. I find it very difficult to believe that a few of the commissioners are not pushing their own personal agendas with their vote.

At one point I heard a commissioner (I cannot recall which) make a remark about "barely being paid". I cannot begin to tell you how infuriating that comment that was. If you are unhappy with the arrangement as a Washington Wildlife Commissioner, PLEASE STEP DOWN!

Hearing Mr. John Lehmkuhl self-proclaim himself a hunter and then ask at the end of the meeting, "why hunt Black Bear in the Spring? We do not hunt other animals in the Spring.", shows how little he truly understands about the management and hunting of big game and the reasons surrounding this issue.

I guess my final thought should be directed at the Governor of our State. I am completely and thoroughly disappointed in the new Governor appointed positions. Additionally, I can think of a few existing commissioners right off hand who have repeatedly impeded the process and do not understand policy or procedure of the commission or dept. They appear to be wildly biased and unqualified to serve on the commission.

Thank you to the few Commissioners that appear to be thoughtful, respectful and unbiased in arriving to their decisions. I wish we had more like you.

What is the purpose of this commission, what is the reason for this particular structure? (Big picture) reflection on a diverse public?? Or, protect wild life??

150+ years ago. public view was kill anything and everything. Did that make it right? No, That failed, the public was wrong, and was catofstrofic for wildlife. Hide hunters, meat hunters, as they moved west ,killed everything. We've learned from there mistakes, and have implemented new management plans.

Modern hunters do not support that kind of behavior, or management..

The neglect of respect, from departments in field biologist is terrible. We should be supporting every and any available avenue for collecting data.

Hunters want to see a robust populations. They want to have opportunity, every year. For all game animals! Black bear is a game animal.

Does, debating morality/ethicasy of individual hunts fall into its mandate/purpose/ reason of the commission??

I'm scared that the current commission has affectivly set a new standard! question everything staff provides, have zero trust in them. Turn every discussion into a publicity stunt...

Have we lost sight of big picture of management?

This is a perspective from a single 33yr old male, live in Everett. Took 4+ hrs to type it up. Fished my whole life, fishing opportunity dwindled, got into hunting 5 yrs ago...not offilated with any body...

I was registered to speak at the meeting but experienced technical difficulties. For some reason, you all couldn't hear me. You tried three times to connect with me, and I want to thank you for trying to let me speak.

Loppose spring bear hunting.

Bears play a significant role in our forest ecosystems. They are responsible for a vital amount of seed dispersal, dispersing more seeds than birds. When bear populations decline, so do the number of plant species found in their ecosystems, which in turn affects other species. I find it absurd that there is no abundance estimate and no mandatory reporting.

Wildlife is a public trust that must be managed to benefit all the trust's beneficiaries. For those of us non-consumptive users, our objection to killing bears is considered emotional and unscientific. Yet your agency will afford hunters the "right to kill" just to offer a hunting opportunity. That's not science. Hunters proclaim that it's their heritage or tradition to hunt bears. That's not science.

Special interests and hunting opportunities should never take precedence over science and the overwhelming opposition from your stakeholders. We are all a part of the public trust, and all of the trust's beneficiaries, including those who choose not to partake in the killing of bears, should be considered.

I hope you look at the bigger picture and are guided by your conscience when deciding what the future will look like down the road for bears and the health of our ecosystems as a whole.

With appreciation,

Nicole Cordano

Thx Please do not allow a spring bear hunt. Bears do not over reproduce. If there isn't enough food, the fetuses will just get absorbed by the mother bears body while she hibernates. They have built in mechanisms to protect against too many of them being born. Any conflicts can be dealt with with education: most times, it's people leaving things out (food, attractants, etc) that cause bears to come into conflict with humans. They are a cornerstone of any ecosystem and do no need hunting. Thank you, Jamila Viandier		Commission Contact Form

As a concerned citizen of the world, I ask you to please drop these proposals and leave the Black Bears in peace. Hasn't their been enough deaths in this world already without adding more? Thank you in advance. I put my faith in you to do the right thing. Please put ban in spring bear hunting permanently.
Thanks,
Please ban the Spring bear hunt. As apex predators, bears are vital to the ecosystem and biodiversity. A decrease in biodiversity will also impact on climate change so this is another very important reason to protect the bears. They belong to everyone, not just to a few hunters.	3/12/2022 17:44	Commission Contact Form
The spring hunt of bears needs to be banned. The bears belong to everyone not just a few hunters. We need them to promote biodiversity and combat climate change.	3/12/2022 17:52	Commission Contact Form
Bears will generate money in tourism and will help the economy. Please save them for the American people and for everyone.
Let us remember that Bears are not mere resources for "trophies" or "murder for fun"!! Bears are splendid beings in their own right, who have evolved alongside us as co-inheritors of all the abundance and beauty of life on this planet!! Bears should not require our permission to live on this Earth!! Bears earned the right long before us humans arrived!!!!!	3/12/2022 17:55	Commission Contact Form
I am writing to protest strongly against the Spring bear hunt. People all over the world are watching how you will proceed with this decision. The is unconscionable and results in an ASSAULT on science relative to population numbers given we will never know how many cubs are orphaned. Even if you limit the hunt to males, collateral and "accidental" female/mother bears is inevitable. The science does NOT support this, and the minuscule population "wanting" a hun should not drive your decision, and "want" is not science. Please do the right thing - the hunt is cruel and not at all how we should be acting towards the environemnt and the animals that share it with us.	3/12/2022 18:03 t	Commission Contact Form stop killing bears, wolves and other wildlife now!
Please stop the hunting of bears I beg you The hunt cruelly targets hungry bears recently out of hibernation and can inadvertently kill mother bears with cubs — a certain death sentence for the nursing young. I am presenting my strenuous opposition to the Spring Bear Petition 102. Isn't it bad enough that our original American residents are being slaughtered in the fall in a completely one-sided massacre? Extending the time allowed for this practice to continue into the spring, when sows are giving birth or nurturing their young is completely reprehensible. The disturbance that would ensue is enough to inhibit any meaningful rearing and protection of the young as well as giving those people who would violate any stated restrictions an opportunity to do so.	3/12/2022 18:21 3/12/2022 18:22 3/12/2022 18:31 3/12/2022 18:41	Commission Contact Form Commission Contact Form Commission Contact Form Commission Contact Form

Dear Washington Department of Fish and Wildlife Commissioners, Commission Contact Form

It has come to my attention that you are intending to establish a permanent spring bear hunting season. As it is, ecosystems across the globe are already suffering from the negative impacts of the human-induced climate crisis, and establishing a permanent spring bear hunting season will only exacerbate this. All creatures are essential to the health of their respective ecosystems, and bears are no exception.

As predators, bears control prey populations to maintain a healthy proportion of species within their habitat. As scavengers, bears help sustain plant life by dispersing the seeds of berries they consume in their fecal matter, providing the perfect growing medium for a new plant, and thus improving the health of local plant life. Additionally, as scavengers, bears consume the remains of deceased animals, thus contributing to the nutrient cycle. Because bears play such an important role, a permanent spring bear hunting season would place undue stress on the bear population, and thus, on the ecosystem as a whole. Furthermore, hunting bears is unnecessary for ecosystem maintenance.

While arguments have been made in favor of hunting (such as citing a need to control animal populations for the sake of ecosystem health), hunting is not required. Ecosystems are designed such that each level acts as a limiting factor for all other levels, and removing one of these levels (for example, through over-hunting) could lead to ecosystem collapse. For example, removing predators will lead to an increase in the number of surviving prey species, which are often herbivores. This increase in the number of herbivores will then lead to overgrazing, further contributing to the imbalance. If there is no ecosystem level in place to keep the herbivore population in check, the herbivores will deplete their food sources faster than they can replenish, creating a positive feedback loop that could ultimately result in ecosystem failure.

Ecosystems are meant to be self-regulating, so rather than establishing a permanent spring bear hunting season, it would be in your best interest, as custodians of this ecosystem, to allow nature to self-regulate. It is my hope that you will seriously consider the words of myself and those who stand with me in our fight to protect the land and creatures that we care deeply about. Thank you for your consideration, and have a lovely day.

With gratitude, Sophia Hsieh

Laura Long

I oppose the spring bear hunt, it needs to be banned.

NO MORE SLAUGHTER of BEARS NOW & FOREVERLet Mother Earth maintain BALANCE and HARMONYLEAVE ALL wildlife ALONE !!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!	3/12/2022 19:19	Commission Contact Form
Please do not allow bear hunting in the spring when cubs are so dependent on their mothers. We do not need to add to the devastation of wild life that we are experiencing. We do not hunt other mammals in the spring,	3/12/2022 19:25	Commission Contact Form
There is no ethical consideration being discussed, only "hunter" rights.
I am opposed to the spring bear hunt. It is unnecessary and irresponsible to hold a bear hunt of any kind. Please get rid of this inhumane idea.	3/12/2022 19:51	Commission Contact Form
please don't make spring bear hunting permanent. It needs to be decided every year or two, after research on the current bear population, how much to reduce the local bear number.	3/12/2022 20:03	Commission Contact Form
As humans on this planet we are charged with the task being stewards of wildlife. This means we are supposed to preserve and protect wildlife on this planet. Often we don't do a very good job of this and every opportunity that we have	3/12/2022 20:12	Commission Contact Form to fulfill this huge responsibility, we should be successful.
Stop the spring bear hunt	3/12/2022 20:17	Commission Contact Form

Why would there ever be a need to hunt bears. Feeding weak minded male egos is never a legitimate answer.	3/12/2022 20:46	Commission Contact Form
Im writing to let you know that vehemently oppose the spring bear hunt. Please permanently abolish these cruel and immoral practice immediately. Any living being should not be hunted down and murdered to "control populations". I	3/12/2022 20:57	Commission Contact Form wonder how many ties to any hunting groups these "experts" have that state hunting is justifiable. Please have compassion and empathy for other life on this earth.

the wilderness ecosystem.
Please do not have a Spring Bear hunt. It is cruel and not necessary. It is not a sport. Thank you.	3/12/2022 22:21	Commission Contact Form
Stop killing wildlife. Humans have taken over their habitat, where are they suppose to go? We need to coexist. Stop the hunts, stop the building into habitats. Find the ways to let bears and other wildlife live as they are meant to live or	3/12/2022 22:41	Commission Contact Form give them sanctuary. STOP KILLING, NOT ACCEPTABLE.
We have to stop the spring bear hunt.	3/12/2022 23:07	Commission Contact Form
The world has changed every day there is less animal populations and the bear is not an exception. We cannot continues hunting animals in that way. Hunting is not needed to feed humans anymore. This is the time to protect the nature thta is in danger due to human activities. Thank you.
Dear Sir or Madam,	3/12/2022 23:11	Commission Contact Form
I strongly oppose the hunting of mother bears and their cubs during the spring, when they are at their most vulnerable. Please vote no to a spring bear hunt.
Thank you for your compassion and sound judgment,
